Polish-Soviet Peace Negotiations to Be Shifted from Minsk

Poles Want Discussion Held in Riga, Letvia, While Bolsheviki Suggest Some Town in Esthonia; Poles Kill Many Reds on Northeastern Front.

Warsaw, Aug. 28.—The Russo-Polish peace negotiations will be shifted from Minsk, the Soviet and Poles having agreed to a transfer. The Poles demand that the negotiations be held in Riga, Letvia, while M. Tchiecherin, the Soviet Foreign Minister, favors some town in Esthonia.

[redacted]g. 28.—(Associated Press)—Willingness to transfer the Russo-Polish peace negotiations at Minsk to a neutral country is expressed in a wireless message from Moscow picked up by the Eiffel Tower station to-day. The details of the Soviet offer could not be deciphered, however, the Foreign Office announced.

Warsaw, Aug. 27.—Via London, Aug. 28.—(Associated Press)—Polish artillery has decimated the principal column of retreating Soviet forces on the northeastern front, says an official statement. More than 600 men, including two general staff officers and eleven line officers, have been captured. Among the killed was the commander of the Bolsheviki Fifty-Seventh Division and his chief of staff.

Detachments of the Polish Third Legion division fighting east of the Bug River near Brest-Litovsk have become engaged in an energetic defensive action in anticipation of a Soviet attack against that city.

Repeated Bolshevik attacks in the region of Lemberg have been repulsed.

The situation on the northern front is without change.

Not Accepted.

London, Aug. 28. — (Associated Press).—The Russo-Polish peace negotiations at Minsk were continued on August 25, says a wireless dispatch from Moscow to-day. The delegates discussed the Russian terms, which the Poles declared unacceptable.

A member of the Russo-Ukrainian delegation stated there was no Polish basis for peace but merely a rejection of the Russian terms. He added:

"Our proposals are not final, as we are willing to make peace."

The negotiations are continuing, the wireless stated.

The shooting occurred while the two small boys were playing in the bedroom at their home. The mother heard Willard tell his younger brother that he must not play with the rifle, and a second later heard Leonard screaming. Rushing into the bedroom, the mother found Willard on the floor with blood covering his face.

He pledged himself if elected President to make an immediate effort with the advice of the ablest men of both the Republican and Democratic parties to form such an association either by putting "teeth in The Hague Court or by revising the covenant to protect national aspirations."

The declaration was made in a front porch speech to a delegation of Indiana Republicans.

U. S. CANDIDATE AND IRISH QUESTION

Cox, Presidential Nominee, Says League Does Not Overshawdow Emotions

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 28.—In a speech delivered to-day at Savin Rock, one of a number made in the course of a busy day of campaigning at the outset of his New England tour, Governor Cox, Democratic candidate for the Presidency of the United States, made what his hearers regarded as a reference to the Irish question.

"The League of Nations," he declared, "does not abridge the right of any racial entity to determine its own destiny. The League was never intended to be, and under its administration it never will be, an agency that will restrain or discourage the same kind of emotions of any people—emotions like those that stirred the colonists in this country to achieve their independence in 1776."

The statement was cheered at length by the audience, many of those present being of Irish descent.

PIONEER MAKES OIL DISCOVERY

Comes From Flathead Country To Place All Information In Premier's Hands

Tremendously rich oil field in the Flathead country, in the Kootenay near the International Boundary line, is predicted by John Watt, pioneer prospector of the Interior who arrived in Victoria to-day to confer with Premier Oliver.

Samples of oil that he has discovered in the Flathead Mr. Watt has brought down with him. From indications he declares that the oil field there will turn out to be one of the richest in the world.

The feature of the discoveries in the Flathead field is a heavy wax which has apparently been formed during the ages by drippings from petroleum. This is hard and clear. Mr. Watt brought samples of it to Victoria to show the Premier. He whittles the wax with a knife just as he would a stick and then lights the shavings. They burn with an intense heat with a flame like that of petroleum.

Recreate Interior.

Mr. Watt brought the news of his discovery and the samples of the field down to the Premier because he thought the Premier should be the first to know what wealth and what wonders are being discovered in the Province of which he is the directing head. Mr. Watt is to remain in Victoria until the Premier returns from his tour of the North.

The oil is of the grade of refined motor oil. Samples that he has brought here were dipped out of borings that he has been making for a long time.

Mr. Watt says that if the Flathead fields turns out to be as rich as indications show it will recreate the industrial life of the whole interior of British Columbia.

A. F. McCrimmon, another expert pioneer prospector, has come down to back up all the claims of Mr. Watt. They propose to give all, place all their information and the details of their discoveries in the hands of Premier Oliver himself.

BOARD WATCHES SUGAR SITUATION

Commerce Board Issues Statement Dealing With Reduction in Price

Says Canadian People Have Fared Better Than Other Countries

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—The following statement dealing with the present sugar situation has been issued by the Board of Commerce.

"As has been already unofficially announced in the press, a conference between the Board of Commerce and the sugar refiners has resulted in a reduction of two cents a pound in the price of sugar. This reduction, extending to all grades and effective forthwith, leaves the selling price of the refiners at 22 cents a pound. Former orders of the Board of Commerce, which remain in effect, limit to 2 cents a pound the increased cost to the consumer, this limitation of profits applying equally, of course, to purchases made at prices below 22 cents.

Uncertain.

"The sugar markets of the world remain an uncertain quantity, with a tendency downward during the last week or two. The high sugar prices obtaining in the United States during the past year no doubt have been largely responsible for attracting to that country cheaper offerings from various parts of the world, with the result that several sharp breaks in the United States market have occurred, and prices here and there fell to a point which made it profitable to bring sugar over the boundary line into Canada despite the duty and difference in exchange.

Fortunate Position.

"It is impossible to discuss here the many random statements which continue to derive publicity with regard to the sugar situation in Canada. But those discussing the question can not fairly overlook the important fact that owing to the prompt and effective measures taken from time to time by the agencies of the Dominion Government, the people of Canada have fared better than those possibly of any other country with respect to sugar prices, and also with respect to supplies of sugar.

"The United States has been second only to Canada with respect to cheapness of its sugar supplies.

Exchange.

"In comparing American prices with those in Canada, however, it is necessary always to remember the unfortunate exchange situation whereby it becomes necessary to add to the Canadian dollar 13 cents to 14 cents before it equals a United States dollar.

"The Board of Commerce will continue to watch the situation and is prepared to take to the limits of its facilities action necessary for the protection of the public."

Heavy purchases of prairie lands were made by several of the visitors.

FIGHTS TO LIFT BAN ON DANCING

J. H. Smythe, New York Publisher, Addresses Dancing Masters on Methodist Rule

New York, Aug. 28.—The recreation rules of the Methodist Church which bar dancing and theatre-going to its members were attacked by J. Henry Smythe, Jr., a New York publisher, speaking yesterday at the convention of the National Association of Dancing Masters.

"I have been making this fight for the good of the Methodist Church," said Mr. Smythe. "I am a Methodist. My father, Rev. Dr. James Henry Smythe, of Philadelphia, has preached before six Presidents and indirectly converted Billy Sunday. Convinced that the recreation rules keep people out of Methodism, I decided to try to change the Book of Discipline. John Wesley's wise dictum should be sufficient: 'Avoid the taking of such diversion as cannot be used in the name of the Lord Jesus.' I am in this fight as long as I live, even if it costs my church membership."

Cowichan Greets Enthusiastic Party Of Press Delegates

Victoria Automobilists Drive Conference Members Over Malahat to Duncan, Where Hearty Welcome Awaits Them; Dinner To-night.

The scenic beauties of the Malahat Drive, and the well-kept fertile pastures of the Cowichan Valley were viewed this morning by the members of the Imperial Press Conference now on Vancouver Island. Victoria automobile owners supplied the cars and a number of local people accompanied the visitors to act as guides.

It was a real day's pleasure in the country, with the glories of seascape, woodland and greensward in view in kaleidoscopic succession. Surfeited as the delegates have been with beautiful scenery, picturesque gorges and boundless expanses of prairie during the last few weeks, they did not fail to give expression to their appreciation of the special attractions of nature which Vancouver Island affords, particularly when the cars halted at the Summit for a view of Saanich Arm and the Gulf.

Welcome at Duncan.

The Imperial Press party arrived at Duncan at 12.30, where they were received by Hugh Savage, President of the Board of Trade, and the members of the Duncan Board of Trade. A visit to the Cowichan Country Club occupied the first moments of the Duncan visit, while a formal luncheon in the Agricultural Hall was prepared for the guests.

The hall was tastefully arranged with colors of the Allied flags drooped in festoons around the building. A feature of the luncheon was the plethora of freshly-caught spring salmon of immense weight, which were taken from Cowichan Bay and brought to the luncheon, one to each table. The size of the salmon drew many admiring comments from the Imperial visitors.

A large number of the Cowichan residents were present at the luncheon, which was served by contingents of the Girl Guides and Boy Scouts, who all during the meal awaited the wants of the diners.

Following the luncheon, the party was addressed by Hugh Savage and members of the Duncan Board of Trade.

The tables were arranged in the countries of the visitors seated at each, there being an English set of tables, Irish, Scottish, while the Canadian members sat at tables featuring the maple leaf. Some 300 guests attended.

To-morrow's Plans.

Delegates will be back in the city in time for a dinner at the Empress Hotel under the auspices of the Canadian Club.

To-morrow will be set aside for more personal engagements, though golf will be the chief attraction for many. In the afternoon there will be a function at Government House for the 25 ladies of the party.

The party is due to get away to-morrow evening for Vancouver by the 11.45 o'clock steamer.

With the Party.

The newspaper party, headed by C. F. Crandall, representing Canada, in the tour of the Imperial Press delegates, comprises John Nelson (Vancouver World), and W. J. Taylor (Woodstock Sentinel-Review), train chairmen of the two special trains; J. H. Woods (Calgary Herald), J. W. Dafoe (Manitoba Free Press), M. R. Jennings (Edmonton Journal), Lieut.-Col. C. D. McPherson (Portage La Prairie Graphic). Mr. Dafoe left the party at Brandon and Col. McPherson, M.P.P., took his place. Mr. Jennings is in charge of the Northern Alberta programme, yet to be carried

CANADIAN CLUB DINNER

The speaker at the Canadian Club dinner this evening for the Imperial Press Party will be David Davies, and his subject is "The Genius of the British People." Mr. Davies is editor of the South Wales Daily Post, Swansea, Wales. Members of the Women's Canadian Club are cordially invited to be present at the Empress Hotel, and are requested to present their membership cards at 9 o'clock. Canada's Foreign Trade For Year $2,518,155,272

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Canada's exports and imports almost balanced, so far as shown by a summary of the trade of Canada for the twelve months ended July 31 as prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The total imports were valued at $1,253,191,735 and the exports at $1,264,963,537. The figures for the two previous years covering the corresponding period were: 1918, imports, $914,885,191, and exports, $1,435,922,855; 1919, imports, $870,850,691, and exports $1,273,443,272. There fore the favorable trade balance which distinguished Canada's trade during the war years is in process of disappearance.

The duty collected during the twelve months was $208,001,705, as compared with $157,049,272 in 1918 and $154,934,971 in 1919.

Imports from the United States totalled $881,147,129, while the exports to that country were $449,746,902.

There was little increase in coal imports because, though Canada paid $33,883,337 in 1920 as against $28,189,872 in 1919 for anthracite, she paid only $33,222,029 for bituminous in 1920 as compared with $37,413,847 in 1919.

Canada's cotton imports were $119,500,887 in 1920, the largest item on the list.

Fires in Manitoba Cause Losses to Farm Owners

Winnipeg, Aug. 28.—(Canadian Press)—Bush fires continue to rage at many points in Manitoba, causing heavy losses in hay and grain crops and at some points destroying farm homes, school houses and other buildings. Reports from the areas where the fires are burning state that rain is essential if further serious damage is to be averted.

In the vicinity of Balmoral fierce fires are burning to the north and threaten the homes of farmers and have already destroyed hay and grain crops.

From Teulon comes the report that two lives have been lost in fires near the village of Erinview, seventeen miles west of Teulon. This loss of life, however, has not been confirmed. The reports say that all able-bodied inhabitants are fighting the fires, which are still uncontrolled. Two fires immediately west of Teulon are burning fiercely and have destroyed crops. All residents have deserted the village to fight the flames.

Fires are reported within four miles of the village of Inwood, threatening the town. Northeast of Inwood, the farm of Albert Nelson was completely destroyed on Friday.

In the village of Gunton the schoolhouse and farm buildings of George Cunningham were wiped out by fires which threatened the town Friday but are now reported under control. Damage to personal property and crops in this district cannot be estimated at present.

Fires which have raged around Matlock Beach are now reported to be under control, while the village of Netley is reported surrounded by fires but in no immediate danger. Large losses to crops occurred there.

Across Lake Winnipeg, on the eastern shore, alarm is felt concerning fires at Beconia and Balsam Bay.

Numerous other fires are reported in Eastern Manitoba, in the Lac du Bonnet district and in the Greater Winnipeg Water District property. None of these has occasioned serious loss to crops as yet.

SIR A. GEDDES SPEAKS IN TORONTO

Says Canada Has Opportunity To Make Other Nations Steadier

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, addressed the Canadian Club here yesterday. Referring to the part this country had played in the war, Sir Auckland said:

"You do not know the extraordinary sense of pride with which we watched the response of Canada."

Sir Auckland spoke of the "imperishable glory of the Second Battle of Ypres," after which was added the crown of Vimy and the last hundred days, which stand out, he said, as a period of fighting. The price in blood and the price in tears was perhaps more than the most pessimistic ventured to believe possible.

The Ambassador said that the price paid by Canada, heavy as it was, was not so great as that paid by England and Scotland.

Aid Needed.

"You know how great the strain of the war was out here," he said. "It was greater in England. It is very heavy and will continue to be heavy for years to come. The whole framework of the industrial life of Europe was broken by the war. Europe can not recover without the assistance of the American continent. As in war, the assistance of Canada and the other nations of the British Empire is absolutely necessary to the winning of peace.

"Never before has Canada had such an opportunity as to-day," Sir Auckland said. "Never before did she stand in the same favorable position as to-day. Through your wonderful harvest you are in a position to do more than any other part of the Empire to help re-establish normal conditions. It is a great responsibility, but it is a great opportunity."

William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Harold S. Vanderbilt, sons, were left $2,500,000 each in cash or securities, and to them as trustees for William K. Vanderbilt III., his grandson, he left another $1,000,000.

JUGO-SLAVS ASK AN INVESTIGATION

Washington, Aug. 28.—Associated Press).—Great Britain, France, Italy and the United States have been requested by the Serbian Government to appoint representatives to an Allied Commission to investigate the conflict between Albania and Jugo-Slavia. The request to the United States was forwarded to the State Department by the Serbian Legation here.

BOGUS TAX COLLECTOR.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 28.—Numerous newly-enfranchised Allegheny County women have been defrauded by a bogus tax collector, who went into action Thursday just as soon as the proclamation was signed declaring woman suffrage to be law.

He appeared at the women's homes, informed them that they must pay him a poll tax if they wished to vote in the November election, collected the money, handed them a receipt and disappeared.

The police are looking for him.

MORE DEATHS IN IRELAND REPORTED

Shop Attendants Burned in Dundalk; Army Lorry Driver Killed

London, Aug. 28.—Two salesgirls and one salesman were burned to death in stores of two Protestant Unionist tradesmen in Dundalk, Ireland, yesterday, according to dispatches received here. The buildings were set on fire. The homes of the owners of the stores were burned.

The fire spread to adjacent property, including the Ulster Bank, which was damaged. The assertion is made that the fires were started in reprisal for the destruction of property of Roman Catholics in Lisburn and Belfast.

Soldier Killed.

A military lorry was attacked yesterday at Cashermore, near Midleton County Cork. The driver of the lorry was killed and an officer and two privates were wounded.

A Belfast Death.

Ethel Burroughs, who was shot during Wednesday's disturbances, in Belfast, died yesterday, making the third death as the result of that affair.

A party of uniformed men drove into Shanagolden, County Limerick yesterday, and fired shots, killing John Haynes, an old age pensioner.

A Battle.

A fierce, though brief battle was fought early yesterday morning at Clonakilty, a seaport southwest of Cork, when fifty men attacked a small garrison in the police barracks. The attackers poured a heavy rifle fire into the building, and one bomb was thrown. The police returned a steady fire, and the raiders were forced to withdraw. No casualties were reported.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN CREATE SCHOLARSHIP

Federation of Clubs Wishes Canadian Women To Study in Britain

Toronto, Aug. 28.—A scholarship to the value of $1,000 for the next triennial period was voted by the Federation of University Women's Clubs at the triennial meeting here yesterday for the purpose of encouraging Canadian women graduates to study in some British university.

A resolution was passed recommending affiliated organiztions to use their influence with universities with which they are connected to have a bureau of appointments established with the ultimate aim of founding a central university bureau of professional people. In the meantime, professional women are urged to make use of Government employment agencies already existing.

Officers of the Federation of University women's clubs were elected as follows: President, Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, Winnipeg; first vice-president, Miss May Skinner, Toronto; second vice-president, Mrs. Douglas Thom, Regina; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. L. Lennox, Winnipeg; treasurer, Mrs. Scofield, Victoria.

STRIKERS NOT RELEASED.

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Although the Winnipeg labor leaders on their return home after conferring with Hon. G. D. Robertson and Hon. Hugh Guthrie expressed the hope that their comrades would soon be released, both of these Ministers stated to the Canadian Press yesterday afternoon that there were no new developments in this matter.

The question, it was understood, had not been brought before the full Cabinet.

Women as Brave As the Men

THEIR STRUGGLE SHOWS A REMARKABLE SPIRIT.

Talk of the bravery of men, but where can you find a finer spirit than among the half-sick women who are fighting and struggling to do their duty against the terrible odds of ill-health, and who will not give up.

One woman in every three is struggling against weakness. Most of them are not exactly sick, but oh, how miserable!

The burden and misery of it all has its foundation in the blood, which is thin and watery. The red cells are too few. The very stream of life is reduced in vitality. Weakness and inevitable ill-health are the certain result.

Every ailing or weak woman can quickly regain her health in this very simple way. By filling the system with the nutrition that comes from rich red blood, a quick change for the better will result. To accomplish this, take two chocolate-coated Ferrozone Tablets after each meal. You'll feel better immediately, for the simple reason that Ferrozone renews the blood. It gives you vim, vigor, endurance, restores a tired, worn-out system very quickly.

You'll feel like new all over once you get Ferrozone working through your blood. It puts color into faded cheeks, brightens the eye, quickens the step, brings back that wonderful feeling of youth.

One of the finest things Ferrozone does is to make you eat lots and digest it as well. With keen appetite, sound sleep, strong nerves and lots of nourishing blood you're bound to regain robust health. Any sickly girl or ailing woman that Ferrozone won't make well must be incurable. There is a secret power in Ferrozone and it is worth a trial at all events. Fifty cents per box, six for $2.50. At all dealers in medicine, or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

AFFAIRS COME TO CRISIS IN PETROGRAD

Economic Situation Desperate; Many Shops Closed; Soviet May Fall

Copenhagen, Aug. 27.—Via London, Aug. 28.—Advices from Petrograd to The Berlingske Tidende state that conditions in that city are becoming critical and that the fall of the Soviet Government appears imminent. Information from the front, together with the desperate economic situation, is believed to be responsible for the discontent. Many shops have been closed and valuables seized. It is stated that the Bolsheviki have punished demonstrators by shooting. Excitement within the garrison is increasing.

A dispatch from Tokio some days ago said:

"Letters received here from Petrograd tell of much suffering caused by a scarcity of fuel.

"Women of culture, it was related, are happy to obtain work as seamstresses to the wives of the Bolsheviki commissaries, where, working long hours they are able to earn barely enough for food and shelter.

"The whole population is suffering keenly from malnutrition, the reports said, many people being in such a weakened condition that their finger nails were dropping off.

"The price of butter is reported to be 6,000 rubles a pound. Bread is priced at 300 rubles, while 1,000 rubles a pound is demanded for meat."

TELLS GERMANS THEY MUST WORK

Reichsbank Director Speaks of Germany's Big Paper Money Circulation

Berlin, Aug. 27.—All the currency theorists in the world would be unable to give a definite, positive answer to the question when an improvement might be expected in Germany's huge paper circulation, Director Von Glasenapp, of the Reichsbank, told The Associated Press corespondent here. The bank statement showed that the paper in circulation, July 15, totalled 53,547,000,000 marks. This was a decline of 198,000,000 marks as compared with the previous week.

"We shall certainly do all in our power to prevent further undue inflation of currency," he said. "As for Germany, there are only two ways and none other will avail. They are expressable in two words—work and thrift. Increased production will benefit both exchange and exportation. From that and a nation-wide return to frugal habits alone is an improvement in the paper money situation to be expected."

BRITISH LABORITES AND RUSSIAN PEACE

London, Aug. 28.—Following a meeting of the "Council of Action" of the Labor Party, a telegram signed by Chairman Adamson, was sent to Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Balfour, and to M. Kameneff, head of the Bolshevik-Commission in London.

The telegram said that the council, having urged the Russian Government to withdraw its objectionable civil militia clause from its demands on Poland, noted with satisfaction the Soviet's latest decision, which removed all difficulties to peace between Russia and Poland.

It added that the Council of Action "now urges both the British and Russian Governments to publish the full terms on which they are willing to make peace."

BY-ELECTION IN TORONTO SHORTLY

Toronto, Aug. 28.—It is expected that the write for the provincial by-election in Northeast Toronto, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Hon. Dr. H. J. Cody, former Minister of Education of Ontario, will be issued shortly. A three-cornered fight is expected. Already a Soldier-Labor candidate, James Higgins, is in the field, and probably there will be a Conservative and a Liberal candidate. Neither of the old line parties has yet named a candidate.

JAPAN IS DECLARED UNPOPULAR AMONG THE NATIONS NOW

Tokio, Aug. 28.—Japan is now isolated from the rest of the world, and anti-Japanese agitation in the Pacific States of America and similar movements in China, Siberia and Korea are making her position difficult. Professor Masaharu Anesaki, former lecturer of Harvard University, who bears a reputation for progressiveness, is quoted as saying in an interview in the Nichi Nichi.

Professor Anesaki held that the Japanese militarists were responsible for the situation and said that even in Britain and France there were not a few who bore ill-felling toward Japan.

The militarists by their bold actions and utterances during the war had greatly irritated certain nations, Professor Anesaki is quoted.

Tokio, Aug. 28.—According to The Nichi Nichi, Japan plans to send an unofficial commissioner to the United States to facilitate mutual understanding and improve relations between Japan and the United States, by delivery of public lectures and other means.

GERMANY EXPRESSES REGRET TO FRANCE AND POLISH STATE

DIRECT NEWS CABLE BEST PROPAGANDA SAYS REUTER'S HEAD

Sir Roderick Jones To See Premier Meighen About Remedying Deficiency

It is incongruous that there is no direct news cable service between England and Canada, acording to Sir Roderick Jones, managing director of Reuter's, who is with the Imperial Press party. He is the head of the English news agency, having succeeded Baron de Reuter, who died in 1915.

Sir Roderick during the war was chief expert at the British Foreign Office on international telegraphic propaganda and later he became Director of Propaganda for the whole Empire and non-enemy countries.

"A direct British news service is primarily a question of finance," said Sir Roderick. "I believe it can be operated for from £20,000 to £30,000 a year. There is a great need for maintaining British sentiment and the British mode of thought. There is a great possibility of propaganda through the medium of the cable and the moving picture film."

Sir Roderick said that there is undoubtedly an American propaganda in Canada, not necessarily designed, but none the less effective, because Empire news is disseminated through American channels and American ideas and sentiment spread by the movies.

He says he is going back to see Premier Meighen at Ottawa and find out what can be don about the present state of affairs.

Sick of War.

"The people of Europe ardently desire peace," Sir Roderick also said. "Great masses of people are necessary to fight a war, and I know that most of the people in England are against another war."

There should be no intervention in the wars between the small European states, Sir Roderick believes. The greater nations should let the smaller states work out their own salvation.

Propaganda had a great deal to do with the speedy ending of the war, in Sir Roderick's opinion. In order that there should be no question about the impartiality and trustworthiness of British reports, Sir Roderick often allowed news unfavorable to the Allies to be disseminated, he said. Telegraph news was the most effective form of propaganda, Sir Roderick found.

The news service supplied by Canadian newspapers, even those in the small towns, was good and had greatly impressed him, the newspaper man said.

Sir Roderick is making a honeymoon of this trip. He was married just before the party started for Canada.

GERMANS FEAR COAL FAMINE

Berlin, Aug. 27.—Peat will probably come into more extensive use as domestic and industrial fuel in Germany as a consequence of the Spa agreement. The municipality of Berlin has started a turf digging plant on its property at Blankenfelde, where twenty tons of peat are already being produced daily. Mixed with coal, the peat is used to help feeding the boiler fires at municipal power stations.

In Saxony, too, the threatened coal famine in the coming Winter is causing concern. Finance Minister Reinhold has drawn up an extensive tree felling programme for the state forests, and potatoes are to be grown on the clearings.

COURT HEARING FOR FOREIGNERS

Buenos Ayres, Aug. 27.—The Argentine Federation of Labor, championed by Socialist Deputies, has just won a victory in the lower House of Congress by securing the passage of a law which prevents the Government from expelling foreigners from the country without a court hearing. The Federation alleged in a recent petition to Congress that the "residence law," which has a provision for the deportation of undesirables, was being unjustly employed by the Federal police to expel from the country laborers of foreign birth who participated in strikes. They were arbitrarily judged by the police to be anarchists, it was charged.

The "residence law" has now been amended by the lower house to require that expulsion can only be decreed by a Federal judge after trial of the person accused.

It is generally expected that the bill will also pass the Senate.

PASSAGE-OF-ARMS ENLIVENS SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

Alleged "Misrepresentation" of Price of Lot Arouses Ire of Trustees

A lively passage-of-arms enlivened the proceedings at the meeting of the Board of School Trustees last evening when Trustee Mrs. Coady-Johnson and Capt. Aitken challenged the price of a lot which the Board had agreed to purchase. The price of the lot in question was $7,500, in addition to which there were $1,500 arrears of taxes and it was to the payment of these taxes that Trustees Mrs. Coady-Johnson and Capt. Aitken objected, alleging that Trustee Mrs. Andrews had "misrepresented" the price at a previous meeting by omitting any reference to the amount of the back taxes.

At the use of the word "misrepresentation," Trustee Mrs. Andrews took exception, appealing to the chair for a ruling. Trustee Dr. Raynor objected to the amount of time wasted over the matter, averring that he distinctly remembered the reference to the taxes at the meeting in question, in which contention he was upheld by Mrs. Spofford.

The minutes of the meeting at which the matter was dealt with, confirmed Mrs. Andrews's assertion that the question of taxes had been considered, but failed to record any mention of the amount of the tax arrears. Chairman Major Riddell then declared the matter closed and called for the next business.

Challenge Procedure.

But the matter was not yet finished with, for a letter from Harold Beckwith, solicitor, who is acting for the School Board in connection with the purchase of the property, drew a second challenge from Trustee Mrs. Coady-Johnson who sought to find out the method of procedure followed in "appointing Mr. Beckwith to the position of solicitor to the Board. Mind you, I have no objection to Mr. Beckwith, but I do object to the way in which these appointments are made without any reference to the Board," she continued. "I want to know if Mr Beckwith was appointed by this Board or by the Griffiths Company (the firm acting on behalf of the owner)—and no evasion!"

Trustee Aitken supported Mrs. Coady-Johnson and the minutes were challenged to see whether authority had been given for the appointment. Secretary Pope stated that he had not received the full authority of the Board, but had acted on his own initiative, the matter being one of urgency and he being unable to reach more than two trustees, and had called in Mr. Beckwith to act for the Board.

A "Pint of Milk."

This explanation failed to satisfy Trustee Mrs. Coady-Johnson and Capt. Aitken, and the former said, with some heat, "I object to such a procedure, Mr. Chairman, and I am surprised that such a method should receive the approval of this Board, when there are Trustees here who will not allow the purchase of a pint of milk without its receiving the sanction of a majority of the Trustees." This drew Trustee Mrs. Andrews to her feet with the exclamation, "Mr. Chairman, I rise to a point of order." Trustee Mrs. Coady-Johnson, however, had not finished speaking and reminded Mrs. Andrews that she still had the floor. As she was not standing, Mrs. Andrews retorted with "But I am on my feet."

Mrs. Andrews: "Mr. Chairman, I rise to a point of order. Do you allow Trustees of this Board to criticize the actions of other Trustees in this manner?" Chairman Major Riddell poured oil on the troubled waters, and after a little further discussion, in which it was pointed out that the City Council could not collect taxes upon school property, it was decided to proceed with the purchase of the property, a motion to this effect being carried.

To Send Delegate.

The Board, on the motion of Trustee Mrs. Coady-Johnson, seconded by Trustee Aitken, decided to accept the invitation of the B. C. School Trustees' Association to affiliate with that body and send a delegate to the annual convention to be held at Nelson, B. C., on October 12. The appointment of the delegate was laid over until the next meeting of the Board.

Reporting for the Finance Committee, Trustee Mrs. Spofford stated that of the yearly estimate of $394,784.75, the sum of $221,431.58 had been expended to date. The report of the dental officer, Dr. W. Mason, showed that to date 783 dental operations had been performed, including 285 extractions, 211 fillings and 287 other operations.

Municipal Inspector Winsby in his report made reference to a request from Mr. Hallwright, Supervisor of School Gardens, that the land immediately to the west of the High School be acquired by the Board with a view to its conversion into school gardens. On the motion of Trustee Mrs. Spofford, seconded by Trustee Dr. Raynor, the Building and Grounds Committee was authorized to take the matter up with the City Council.

The remainder of the session was taken up with a consideration of the plans of the new King's Road School, presented by Major Spurgin and the secretary was authorized to call for tenders for the construction of the building.

The "Reds" Are On The Run

The gallant struggle of the Poles to save their capital from capture has at last been crowned with success, and the Bolshevist reverse bids fair to become a rout, according to an arresting article in this week's number of THE LITERARY DIGEST, dated August 28th, on this spectacular turning of the tide of war. The Minneapolis Journal is quoted as saying that "the Bolshevik menace to Western civilization, if any, is now political," while an Eastern paper is sure that "Bolshevism has shot its bolt." The Newark Evening News asserts that the "lowering of Bolshevism's prestige will naturally be followed by reactions within Russia," and the New York World declares that "it was not merely a battle that Poland won in front of Warsaw, but the right to assume a position of equality at the peace table."

LIBRARIANS TO VISIT.

Nanaimo.—Though the Public Library was inaugurated only six months ago, Nanaimo is to be honored by the annual convention of the British Columbia Library Association some time in October and November. Miss Helen Stewart, Librarian of the Victoria City Library, has written J. C. McGuffie, the local librarian, that library experts will be present from Victoria and Vancouver, and possibly from Seattle. The afternoon programme will probably be a conference on children's books and reading courses. This will be an appropriate subject for Nanaimo, as the children's avidity for children's books and their large attendance at the library rooms have been marked features since the library opening last February. Miss Jameson, of Vancouver, a member of the City Library Board, is president of the City Library Board, and is president of the British Columbia Association. Under the Library Act of last session, a commission now has oversight of all public libraries and the creation of new ones. The honorary commissioners are Professor Sedgwick, of B. C. University, M. B. Jackson, K.C., M.P.P., and Miss Helen Stewart, the executive secretary being Henry Killam.

THE BRITISH MINER.

Just what the British miner expects to accomplish by declaring a general strike is difficult at this distance to imagine. It is true that the Smillie policy of direct action appears to have fired his imagination once more, and a renewed demand for nationalization may be made in the form of a threat to tie up every coal mine in the country unless the Government agrees to grant it. But it does not follow that an overwhelming strike vote will result in a very serious walk-out. The vote has been just as decisive on former occasion as it bids fair to be when all returns have been compiled this time. Apart from stoppages in some districts, however, very little inconvenience, comparatively speaking, has attended this form of partial mass action.

Nor need it be supposed that the moderate elements of British Labor, whose common sense and considered judgment have been responsible for holding the triple alliance of workers down to constitutional procedure, are any more keen to-day than they were twelve months ago to damage Labor's hope of a larger share in administrative functions. The British public accepted a challenge in the shape of a railway strike last year, and as a pattern of common action on the part of state and people as a whole against any attempt to obtain by force concessions which are inimical to the majority, it is doubtless remembered by those who are now working to prevent either member of the triple alliance from a precipitate course. And if the miner imagines for one moment that he will force the Prime Minister into an election he is hugging a forlorn hope. Neither the Miners' Federation nor the whole triple alliance has anything to gain by an appeal to the country with the choice of government by trades union dictatorship or by an elected parliament.

THE ENTENTE.

Several members of the Imperial Press party already have publicly expressed their astonishment at the exaggerated idea of the difference of opinion between Great Britain and France which obtains in this country. Lord Burnham assured his Vancouver audience the other day that the union between the two nations is still firm and effective, that it rests upon firm confidence, mutual regard and common obligation, and that it will endure. Mr. David Davies describes the "inevitable differences" as family affairs with no specific relation to the solidity of the real understanding between Great Britain and her nearest ally.

Lord Burnham and Mr. Davies are closely in touch with the sentiments of both Governments, not only by reason of their unique opportunity to appraise at its accurate value the information which reaches them before it is diluted with prejudiced opinion, but also because they are in a position to observe more closely than is possible in this country the particular agencies which thrive upon the dissemination of disturbing reports.

Nor should it be difficult for the average student of international affairs, especially as applied to Anglo-French relations, to understand that Great Britain and France cannot escape differences of opinion. The two peoples are entirely different. In temperament and habit they are a definite contrast; but the very fact that the Entente has withstood the test of common sacrifice should be sufficient to convince the fomenters of dissension of the fruitlessness of any attempt to dissolve an alliance which the world regards as the prime factor for the prevention of another European conflict.

There will be times when restraint on both sides of the English Channel will be essential; nevertheless "the mutual regard and common obligation" which constitutes the fundamental basis of the Entente may be depended upon to provide the requisite ballast at the proper time.

RENTAL INQUIRY.

In many of the larger centres there is an evident desire on the part of a certain type of property owner to squeeze the last cent of profit, legitimate or otherwise, out of his investment. The particular offender in not a few cases is the apartment house owner whose commercial instinct has been all too quick to detect an opportunity to use the almost universal dwelling shortage as a means to fleece the unfortunate tenant.

It is understood, of course, that operating expenses in connection with property of this character have kept pace with the general upward tendency of practically everything in public use. But there is no reason why any particular condition which owes its existence to the events of the last six years should be exploited out of all proportion such as appears to be the case with some forms of rental.

On that account it is to be hoped that Captain White's recommendation that the Board of Commerce be given authority to investigate charges of rent profiteering will be agreed to by the Ottawa Government. If profiteering has been going on it should be brought to light; if the charges prove false and the persons complained of are able to justify the fairness of their rentals the public may as well know.

PROHIBITION QUERIES.

Our morning contemporary suggests that the Prohibition Commissioner should be in a position to state within what time a prescription for liquor prescribed for a patient in hospital can be filled. It believes it would be of interest to know if the hospitals of the Province make use of their privilege under the Act to keep liquor in stock for use of patients whose condition the medical man attending might consider in need of alcoholic stimulant. The question is also asked if the prohibition law makes provision for the obtaining of liquor at the instant when it may be most needed.

The British Columbia Prohibition Act, of course, sets a time at which the official vending stores may dispense their wares, and if the prescription is presented within those hours the filling of it should be a matter of minutes only. But as our contemporary complains that with the advent of the eight ounce law "there is no doubt money is being wasted" in the administration of the Act, it would naturally frown at the suggestion that the various establishments remain open all night to meet the exigencies of a case which might involve the saving of a "patient's health or life at any hour of the day or night." We agree that sickness is not bound down by times; but we also suggest that if the hospitals do not make such provision as that to which they are entitled by law it is either on the advice of the medical profession or by reason of managerial judgment.

This, however, is a matter for the hospitals entirely. No blame can attach to the Prohibition Commissioner if either the privileged professions or institutions fail to utilize the machinery specially designed for their benefit. In any case a perusal of the Act and its amendments should place our contemporary in possession of all the information asked for through its editorial column this morning.

ON FIRM GROUND.

When he says that Russia, or any other country for that matter, should be left to work out its own form of Government, Mr. T. E. Naylor, General Secretary of the London Society of Compositors and a member of the Imperial Press party, is on firm ground. He gives that as his reason for supporting the attitude taken by British Labor in its official frown upon any Governmental action which might appear to show a tendency to upset the present governing institution in Russia. Mr. Naylor, however, has not been led away from his better judgment by the few mouthing agitators in the Old Country who would trade an elected parliament for "tyranny by ticket." Nor does he believe that the bulk of British Trade Unionists favor the principle of "direct action" for political purposes. Indeed, he is emphasizing the sentiments of that section of British Labor which acknowledges the right of majority rule and recognizes the advantages of the ballot box through whose agency the only legitimate revolution may be brought about, particularly in a democracy whose ideals of liberty and freedom are those embodied in the British constitution.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is reported that Trotzky has assumed command of the Bolshevik armies. Very probably he will soon be required to make other arrangements about his future.

Former King Constantine of Greece is awaiting the day when "by the will of my people and the force of traditions, I shall regain the throne which I undeservedly lost." To quote Robert Browning: "But there are times when patience proves at fault."

A Montreal dispatch says there is a distinct possibility that within the next month or so, following the harvesting of the big wheat crop, flour will decrease and presage cheaper bread. Not a single consumer will have any objection to offer if the distinct possibility is translated into a definite certainty.

Senator Harding says the existing League of Nations is a definite and irremediable failure; but he assures both Republican and Democratic parties that if he shall be elected he will set about putting "teeth in the Hague Court" or revise the Covenant to protect national aspirations. It never can be said of Harding that he lacks ambition.

Sympathizers with the Lord Mayor of Cork who is at present nearing starvation in Brixton prison are urging the Prime Minister to release him and pave the way to a reconciliation with Ireland. Since when has Sinn Fein needed but just this one case to open the gate to a settlement of the Irish question?

Election prophets on both sides of the Atlantic see in the somewhat threatening condition of industrial Britain the signs of an early election. But surely the Prime Minister's opponents are not to be caught napping so easily. Labor, or at least that section represented by such men as Thomas, Clynes and Adamson, never will be stampeded by a few agitators whose ideas of political power are seen through the eyes of bloody revolution. An election at this time would be tantamount to an invitation to the electorate to make its choice between the exponents of "direct action" and an elected Parliament sworn to uphold the British constitution. In that case the little Welshman would be able to produce still another rabbit from the bag which has held so many political surprises.

OTHER PAPERS' VIEWS

FOR THE NEWCOMERS.

(Guelph Mercury and Advertiser).

Mennonites and all others should understand from the moment of their coming to Canada that they will be required to conform to her institutions and customs and that what is good enough for free-born citizens of British connection must of necessity be good enough for the foreigner and his children, if he chooses to remain in the Dominion. Canada wants the best agriculturists in the world to come to her wide prairies to cultivate them and become wealthy and independent, and recognizes the Mennonites as among the best farmers the Western lands ever had, but Canada does not want them bad enough to encourage the formation of an alien organization to promulgate dissension or plant the germ of disintegration, just to please them. Canada should be open to all, with equal rights for all, but special privileges for none, that would make them superior to the law. The Privy Council did the only thing it could in sustaining the courts of the land against the contentions of a people who still deem the German the super-man, a law to himself in religion, in education, and in the State.

TY COBB STUMPS FOR COX.

(Toronto Mail and Empire).

Ty Cobb is to stump the United States in favor of the Democratic candidates. Governor Cox is sure of the vote of at leats one other prominent figure in the world of sport, and that is the vote of Jack Dempsey, for Governor Cox could have stopped the Willard-Dempsey assault at Toledo, and did not.

SAYS B. C. HAVEN FOR TAX CRUSHED OLD COUNTRYMEN

Lord Burnham Impressed By Advance Made By This Country

People crushed out by high prices and the pressure of taxation in England have the way open to a new life out here in British Columbia, according to Lord Burnham, owner of the London Daily Telegraph and head of the Imperial press party here. Lady Burnham is with him.

"If the opportunities of this Province were better known to the class of people who are being squeezed out, I believe they would soon come," Lord Burnham said.

Lord Burnham was here twenty-six years ago when he stayed at the Coldstream Ranch and saw the first fruit trees planted in the Okanagan.

Country Has Arrived.

"Then the country was a wilderness," he said. "To-day you have all the facilities of a developed country. Your transportation lines, steamships, magnificent hotels and signs of progress and energy tell of a community that has arrived. The change in quarter of a century is amazing."

"This Island seems the very spot for people who, while they may not grow rich, may yet get comfortable homes and put their sons in the way of earning a good livelihood."

"The paved road through Saanich leading to the entrancing gardens of Mr. Butchart" took the fancy of Lord Burnham as one of the evidences that this community has arrived.

Look Here for Paper.

Lord Burnham said that English publishers must look to Canada for their paper supply. World consumption of paper is now 25 per cent. more than production.

"Just how far your pulp-mills on this coast can go toward alleviating the situation I cannot say, since I am not an authority on that particular phase of the question. It is a certainty, however, that the mills of Eastern Canada will be drawn upon from across the Atlantic, leaving the big opportunity for your mills to meet the markets nearer home or to which you are more conveniently situated. It may be that your mills can compete with the eastern mills by shipping via the Panama Canal, but on that question, as I have pointed out, I am not competent to speak.

"In the meantime British Columbia mills have the markets of Australia and New Zealand, the Orient, South America, the greater part of the United States, the Canadian prairies, and possibly such far away markets as South Africa and other parts of the world. In discussing this matter with some of the delegates to the conference from Australia, South Africa and other parts, I have pointed out that as far as I could see it would seem like a waste of time for any of those countries to devote any time and money in an endeavor to manufacture pulp, when the province of British Columbia has such vast resources, that merely await development."

out, and was unable to come through to the coast. Mr. Woods is accompanied by Mrs. Woods on this part of the journey, to assist in entertaining the ladies from overseas.

To Leave For Home.

Some of the Australian and New Zealand delegates will sail home direct from British Columbia. E. E. Edwards, Brisbane Telegraph; Walter Jeffery, Sydney News; Major G. V. Lansell, Bendigo Advertiser; and Mrs. Lansell and her sister, Miss Neill; J. Parker, Wellington (N. Z.) Post; J. J. Knight, Brisbane Courier, and other newspapers, and Mrs. Knight, are all returning to the Antipodes at once. The balance of the Australasian party will return to England and sail home from there.

Mrs. J. J. Hutchison, of Otago, N. Z., will sail for home at once, but Mr. Hutchison will complete the Canadian tour.

TWO WANTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Calgary, Aug. 28.—Two Calgary boys whose parents are reported to be still living in this city, are wanted by the police in British Columbia on a charge of murder. They are Charles and William Chouinard, aged nineteen and twenty-four years, and are alleged to have caused bodily injury to Taihl Singh, a Hindu, at Waldo, B. C., on July 16, from which he died a week later. The boys, who are half-breeds, were last seen at the depot in Waldo on the day the assault is alleged to have been committed.

NO DOUBT EX-CZAR WAS ASSASSINATED

Investigations Confirm He and Family and Four Others Were Murdered

London, Aug. 28.—All possible doubts that former Emperor Nicholas of Russia and his family were assassinated in the basement of their prison house at Ekaterinburg on the night of July 16, 1918, seem to be dispelled by the accounts of two independent investigators which are published here. One is printed by The London Times and was written by its former Petrograd correspondent, Robert Wilton. The other appears in The Nineteenth Century Magazine, and is from the pen of Captain Francis McCullagh, of the British army, who before the war was a widely known newspaper correspondent. Both spent several weeks at Ekaterinburg, and talked with natives and soldiers who witnessed the affair through the windows of the house.

In Agreement.

The writers agree on the important details of the story.

The victims of the massacre, they say, numbered eleven, being the former Emperor, his wife, son and four daughters, Dr. Botkin and three servants. The assassination was arranged by Yurovski, the jailer in charge of the deposed royal family, and was carried out by twelve soldiers.

Captain McCullagh's story says all the doomed persons, except Nicholas, were on their knees, crossing themselves. Yurovski shouted the order for the execution of "Nicholas Romanoff the Bloody and all his family." The ex-Czar then stepped quickly in front of his wife and children, saying something which could not be heard, and was shot by Yurovski. Then the others of the party were shot down with revolvers, and later the soldiers bayoneted the bodies, he says.

AMERICAN CRUISER SENT TO DANZIG

Washington, Aug. 28.—Secretary Daniels announced to-day he had ordered the armored cruiser Pittsburgh to proceed from Revel to Danzig, for the protection of Americans at that port.

ORIENTALS OPPOSED.

Denver, Aug. 28.—Resolution opposing further enlargement of agricultural holdings by citizens of any Oriental nation was adopted unanimously to-day at the closing conference of the League of the Southwest.

FLIGHT POSTPONED.

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 28.—Capt. Henry Mustin, commander of the Pacific fleet air detachment, announced to-day that the flight of six F-5-L seaplanes from San Diego to Seattle has been postponed a month.

AIR BATTLES AT GREAT ALTITUDE

Washington, Aug. 28.—In future wars the battle for supremacy of the air will be fought at an elevation beyond the range of human vision, at an altitude of at least 20,000 feet, according to a prediction made by the army air service.

Fighting planes in years to come will be made entirely of metal, heavily armored, and will carry numerous machine guns and small cannon, it says.

The planes must have a speed of well over 200 miles an hour and must be able to climb 20,000 feet in ten minutes, or at the rate of two miles a minute.

The pilots will have to be provided with oxygen and heating apparatus against the cold of the higher atmosphere, and machines must be so constructed that half the bracing can be shot away and the plane still fly. The fuel tanks will have to be armored, and will be placed in the wings, to protect against fire, the air service believes.

ENGLISH LIBERAL NEWSPAPER EDITOR ON CURRENT ISSUES

Alderman Ernest Woodhead, of Huddersfield, Speaks to Times Representative

That the spirit of Liberalism in England, shattered though it may be by factional differences, is not dead, and though weak in the House, it is strong in the country, is the opinion of a representative northern Liberal with the Imperial Press party.

"My paper," said Alderman Ernest Woodhead, of Huddersfield, an ex-Mayor of that borough, "is still Liberal, without any qualification. My father first became associated with The Huddersfield Examinar in 1851, and since that time the paper has only known two editors. He was long a Liberal member, and I was the Liberal candidate at the last general election, and our policy has always been the straight Liberal opinion."

With that clear statement of his sentiments, Mr. Woodhead plunged into a criticism of the administration in Great Britain, stating that "it is a regrettable thing that Mr. Asquith's influence has not been more fully felt in the peace, as it was in the early days of the war."

The British Prime Minister.

Mr. Lloyd George had not proved the great Peace Premier that he had as a war minister, in Mr. Woodhead's opinion, and he believed his popularity to be waning throughout the constituencies, though the lack of a successor was keeping back a change of administration.

Mr. Woodhead has great hope of the future of the Labor Party in England, which he thinks knows clearly its policy, and intends to go after control of the Government, and believes the immediate future is theirs to grasp.

Mr. Woodhead contends that the Coalition has been too much influenced by the chauvines of France, and that France having waited fifty years for revenge with Germany, now dreads a return from across the Rhine sooner or later seeking reprisals. "The result of that is that we have not got the real peace we were promised and the people of Britain are waking up to that fact," he stated.

He deprecates the failure of Poland to accept the award of the Treaty of Versailles, and blames the Polish aggression which has recently thrown a cloud over Europe. "I am strongly against intervention in Russia, contending that it is the duty of the Russians to solve their own problems," he stated.

He was emphatic in his assertion that Poland had been incited to the invasion of Russia by France, and that the British Government had been wanting in not taking a firmer position of resistance to what he regards as a mistaken adventure.

Irish Situation.

Mr. Woodhouse maintains that the situation in Ireland has not been improved by the offer of Home Rule couched with a threat of coercion, and believes that some solution of the problem must be found to settle so serious an issue which threatens the safety of the United Kingdom.

Mr. Woodhead renewed acquaintance here with two old friends, J. Stuart Yates, with whom he attended Edinburgh University, and Alderman Fullerton, whose boyhood days were spent in Huddersfield, a busy Yorkshire industrial centre.

Mr. Woodhead is a musician of note, being librettist of the light operas, "Robin Hood," "The Royal Jest," and "The Pink Elephant."

BOYS' DEPARTMENT GREATLY EXTENDED BY W. & J. WILSON

Extensive alterations and improvement have recently been completed in the boys department of the W. and J. Wilson clothing store on Government Street this section now occupying practically the whole of the basement.

The space originally provided when the boy's section was separated from the general men's wear some two years ago has been entirely outgrown, and the additions have more than doubled the accommodation available.

An excellent lighting system has been installed, and dressing rooms fitted with angle mirrors and other conveniences have been provided.

The enlargement will be sufficient to provide for the growth of the department for some years to come, a portion of the space available being at present occupied by a display of trunks and suitcases.

During the past few months extensive additions to the stock of necessities and comforts for boys have been added, and it is claimed that, with the single exception of shoes, everything in clothing needed by a boy is now available in this enlarged department.

PRESS PARTY GUESTS AT "BENVENUTO"

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart Entertained Visitors delightfully Yesterday

The members of the Imperial Press party who arrived in the city from Vancouver yesterday afternoon received their first taste of Island hospitality yesterday afternoon when they were delightfully entertained by Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart at their lovely home at "Benvenuto," Tod Inlet. The drive through the Saanich peninsula aroused the admiration of the visitors and placed them en rapport for the many beauties of the famous gardens which at this season of the year are aglow with stately dahlias, gorgeous asters and the colorful riot of the early Autumn blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. Butchart were assisted by their daughter and son-in-law in receiving the guests, and after a cordial interchange of the amenities, the visitors wandered about the gardens. The remark of one delegate epitomizes the sentiments of the whole party: "It was worth coming four thousand miles to see such gardens and to meet such a charming host and hostess."

Tea was daintily served on the main lawn before the house, after which the visitors were entertained with a marvellous exhibition of legerdemain by that wizard, Max Malini, whose nimble manipulation of cards and money fascinated and mystified his audience. The departure for home was made at 6.30, the visitors renewing their expressions of appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Butchart for their gracious hospitality.

Even the collar band and cuff edges need only a light rubbing between your hands —

WHAT hard rubbing the old way of washing meant! Even though you boiled the clothes, used cake soap and washing powder, the bad spots simply would not budge without a long session with the washboard. Now—with Rinso—you do next to no rubbing at all. RINSO not a cake soap—not a washing powder—but a new form of soap in granules, with power to cleanse the grimiest dirt. Yet it harms nothing—safe as pure water itself. Here is what you do:

AT NIGHT—SOAK WITH RINSO
IN THE MORNING—JUST RINSE!

The dirt runs away. You've done a week's wash without rubbing, without boiling, without labor. Easy on you. Very easy on the clothes. Sounds almost too good to be true—does it? Just prove it.

ASKS $3,000,000 REWARD

Vancouver Man Says He Can Eliminate Caterpillars and Believes Government Offers Big Money.

A Vancouver man who says he has discovered the only sure way of defeating the hordes of "Bolshevik" caterpillars which threaten the tree life of this country next Spring, formally made application to the Provincial Government to-day for the $3,000,000 reward which he says the Government is offering for the man who ends all pests.

This man lives on Triumph Street, Vancouver. Government officials have decided not to make public his name. They say that if all he says he has achieved is true he must be a wizard. His name is being kept secret because if his discoveries prove effective he will make millions of dollars.

Experts of the Department of Agriculture are now investigating the discoveries.

The Triumph Street man is a foreigner whose English is meagre. Officials think that he may have something good, but has mis-translated some Government announcement into the promise of a $3,000,000 reward.

WILL SERVE FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR PECULIAR FRAUD

For over two hours this morning the attention of the City Police Court was centred on a young man occupying the dock and answering to the names A. J. Kelly and E. J. Dolan, while a constant stream of witnesses trooped back and forth from the witness box and narrated to Magistrate Jay the financial adventures they had had with the prisoner between 11 o'clock and the departure of the Seattle ferry last Thursday, August 26.—The net result of the session was that Dolan alias Kelly will serve a twelve month sentence with hard labor for forgery, a further three months for obtaining a pair of boots from J. H. Mansell by means of a worthless cheque, and will stand trial in a higher court on similar charges to the latter in which he is alleged to have victimized W. Duncan and O. H. Dorman.

It appeared that shortly after the Union Bank opened for business on Thursday Dolan appeared at the Savings Department wicket, gave his name as A. J. Kelly and started a savings account with a $10 deposit, being issued the customary passbook. This book he is alleged to have used in securing credit, producing it to salesmen.

GREAT NEUROLOGIST EXPLAINS DIAGNOSIS TO VICTORIA DOCTORS

One of the most important events in the local medical world took place last night at the Jubilee Hospital, when one of the world's greatest neurologists, Sir James Purves Stewart, K.C.M.G., M.A., M.D., Edin., F.R.C.P., London, addressed the Victoria Medical Society on the afflictions of the human nervous system.

About fifty members of the local medical fraternity were present in the dining room of the Nurses' Home, when Dr. H. E. Ridewood, as President of the Society, introduced the distinguished speaker, at 8.30 o'clock.

Sir James took little time in preliminary explanations, but proceeded to the examination of a large number of difficult cases which the local practitioners had gathered for his inspection.

Operating practically on the lines of the ordinary clinic, Sir James Stewart took the history sheet of each patient, and after making an exhaustive examination, accompanied by a running fire of illuminating comment, he summed up his diagnosis.

So absorbed were the assembled doctors in the illustrations and methods followed that the time was past 11 o'clock before the audience was aware of the fact, and amid hearty thanks and applause Sir James cut short his demonstrations, and hurried for the Vancouver steamer.

Sir James is a Knight of Grace St. John of Jerusalem, senior physician Westminster Hospital, and honorary colonel in the army (R.A.M.C.). He was consulting physician to the Mesopotamia expeditionary force, and while there came into intimate touch with the fourth and fifth Canadian General hospitals, and the first Canadian Stationary hospital, in all of which he was well known and liked.

Sir James has written many books and papers on his chosen speciality. He has won many honors for his work, and is honorary member of many famous scientific and medical societies. His work, "Diagnosis of Nervous Diseases," has had five editions published and has been translated into French, Spanish and German.

Sir James has been professor of medicine at the University of Edinburgh. He was physician to the Imperial Yeomanry during the Boer War, 1900-1901. He was mentioned in dispatches. During the late war when his services in the M.E.F., to which he was consultant neurologist, he was three times mentioned in dispatches and given the C.B. and K.C.M.G. for his distinguished services.

Britain and Canada Knit in Common Bond By Recent Suffering

Patriotic Addresses Feature Government Banquet To Imperial Press Delegates; Hon. J. W. de B. Farris Extends Welcome; Lieutenant-Governor Presides

After seeing Canada and Canadians at first hand during a tour which has taken them completely across Canada delegates to the Imperial Press Conference realize that the Dominion stands as solidly with the Mother Land as it did in the darkest hours of the war—actuated by a real imperial spirit and not by any legislative or constitutional machinery.

That was the keynote of the speeches delivered at the banquet which the Government of British Columbia gave in honor of the Press Conference delegates at the Empress Hotel last night—a gathering which brought together representatives from all parts of the British Empire and helped in no small degree to promote that mutual understanding and sympathy which form the very foundation of British supremacy.

The gathering last night included not only the delegates, but representatives of the Provincial Government, the church, the civic authorities and the judiciary. Among the guests were Hon. J. W. de B. Farris, Attorney - General and Acting Premier; Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance; Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works; Bishop MacDonald and Mayor Porter.

Lieutenant-Governor Colonel Hon. E. G. Prior, who presided, and Mrs. Prior entered the ballroom at half-past eight, followed by Viscount Burnham and Lady Burnham, the delegates and the Victoria guests.

Extends Official Welcome.

Extending the official welcome of the Province to the delegates, Colonel Prior declared that Victorians had hailed with much pleasure the news that the Imperial Press Conference was to come to Canada, and had heard with the keenest delight that its members were to visit the capital city of British Columbia. While Victorians were overjoyed to see all the delegates, he went on, they were particularly happy to greet so many representatives of the far-flung British Dominions beyond the seas because he felt that the problems faced by these Dominions were more similar to those which Canada must solve than those that existed in the dear old motherland.

Colonel Prior referred to the conference as the most important body of men which ever had visited the Province, and declared that the tour of the delegates would be invaluable not only to British Columbia and Canada, but to England as well. "One personal interview of the kind which you are having by the score now," he said, "is better than months of correspondence."

"We feel that in welcoming you to Victoria," the Lieutenant-Governor proceeded, "we are welcoming you to the prettiest and best town in the Dominion. (Applause). At all events it is the most British.

"You gentlemen have come to Canada and now have a broader idea of conditions here than you ever could have gained by reading. I feel that some minister of the Crown in England should also come out here and see for himself just what Canada is like. If ministers of the Crown in this way could come out and see what they have to deal with at first hand it would, I think, be far better for Canada and for England.

British Capital.

"Another requirement of Canada is British capital. We feel that Canada has a larger claim upon British capital than most other places. We constantly see streams of American dollars coming into Canada for development of our wonderful resources—and, of course, a dollar is a dollar wherever it comes from. We think, however, that a British sovereign is always worth more than five American dollars and we should like to see more of them.

"We need, again, a real British cable service, and telegrams direct from England and not through American sources. Everything now is tinged by its journey through America. We admire the Americans, make no mistake about that, but we admire the British still more.

"We wish you to make a good report in England of the people you found out here in the West," Col. Prior concluded, "to tell the people of the Old Land that we are loyal to the old flag and to the King."

Mr. Farris.

"The people of British Columbia extend to you a very hearty welcome—and especially hearty is the welcome of this, the capital city of British Columbia," commended Hon. J. W. de B. Farris, Attorney General and Acting Premier, who spoke on behalf of the Provincial Government in proposing a toast to "Our Guests." "While appreciating the welcome that has been extended to you all across this great Dominion, we believe that you feel more at home in British Columbia than in any other place you have visited. In the first place—and this is no reflection upon other parts of Canada in which many of us, I myself, indeed, were born—the name of the Province is British Columbia. Again, on reaching the capital city you find that its name is Victoria—the name of perhaps the greatest Queen who ever sat on the British throne. Again, this capital city is on an island in the Pacific—and our Empire is essentially an empire of islands. First of all, there is the group of islands which form Great Britain itself, and many of you, besides, have come from island groups of overseas dominions. Moreover, not only did you conclude your journey westward by landing on an island, but you touched upon an island when you first set foot in Canada.

A Great Coast Line.

"The coast line of British Columbia," Mr. Farris proceeded, dwelling upon this theme further, "is essentially maritime—so indented that we have enough coast line, in fact, to go around our Province three times—5,000 miles of it. Indeed, taking all these things into consideration you will see that we sing as proudly as the people of any land, 'Rule Britannia.' When I was in England last year a member of the British House of Commons exclaimed, on meeting me, 'So you have just dropped in from British Columbia!' I feel that this little way of 'dropping in' upon each other forms an important, nay an essential part of our relations. We are indeed glad that you just dropped in' upon us!

Significant in History.

"Life," Mr. Farris remarked, "is not all mountain tops—there are vast stretches of prairie marked here and there with striking experiences, memorable occasons. I feel that the visit of the Imperial Press Conference delegates is not only a great event in the lives of the delegates and in our lives, but is significant, moreover, in the history of the Empire.'

Mr. Farris went on to recall the outbreak of war and the manner in which the overseas nations which composed the British Empire rallied to the Mother Land in her time of need, and it gave him greater pleasure than he could express to point out to the delegates that British Columbia had contributed more per capita to the cause than any other of the great Provinces which composed the Dominion. The Attorney-General referred to Britain's dark hour when the tide of battle was going against her, when her communication with the outside world was threatened by unseen foes and then declared that out of the sorrow and tragedy of it all the British Empire has emerged triumphant, as is proved by the gathering together here of ladies and gentlemen of the press from every part of that Empire.

"In the past our Empire has grown more of less haphazardly, but from now on, I conceive it, the Empire will continue to grow, not as in the past, but will be guided in a more thoughtful, a more intelligent and a more educated way.

Fundamental Principal.

"This gathering must be at all times considered from the point of view of Empire," Mr. Farris asserted. "There exist two opinions to-day as to how the Empire can best be bound together. Some hold that this can best be done by laws, while others believe that education and the undertaking of each other's viewpoint, will accomplish the result. I have no hesitation in saying that we may tell our legislatures 'so far as a coercion is concerned, hands off the Empire.' It is not the function of law to make men more patriotic, but it is the function of law to make it worth while for men to be patriotic. It is that principle, I think which has made the Empire able to stand the best so magnificently in the times gone past.

"In this matter, however, we should not overlook the material side of our relations. It is ever true that where a man's treasure is there will his heart be also. The matter of industrial relations is most important, but we must remember that loyalty is not bred by legislation, but by voluntary co-operation and the understanding of each other's problems and viewpoints."

"In your trip across this continent," Mr. Farris concluded, "by what you are learning and what you are teaching, you are spinning an invisible web which will bind the Empire more closely together than any laws could hope to do."

"Nothing Beyond Accomplishment."

Replying to the toast on behalf of the guests, Colonel Sir Arthur Holbrook, M.B.E., M. P., declared that, while the delegates had read much of the greatness of Canada the things that they had seen in their tour across the Dominion had "practically staggered them." "Apparently," he remarked, "nothing is beyond accomplishment in Canada. Canadians are imbued with a spirit of progress and grit that will overcome all obstacles." He agreed that the British ministers of the Crown should visit Canada and see for themselves conditions prevailing here.

After referring to Victoria and its enviorons as the beauty spot of Canada, Colonel Holbrook said he deplored the fact that the Esquimalt Naval Station had been closed. "I regret exceedingly," he said, "that British Columbia has lost touch with the British Navy. Naval power should be kept before the colonies and the whole world. There always has been a desire in some quarters to cut down naval and army expenditures. I agree that it is not necessary for every man to be a fighter, but we must have regard to the extent of our possessions and the necesary strength of our Navy on this account. The supremacy of the British Navy is one of the greatest assets of our Empire, and we must never lose control of the seas."

Colonel Holbrook referred gracefully to Canada's part in the war, and praised the Canadian system of education as witnessed by the delegates on their trip across the continent. He observed that the marvellous system of agricultural education in vogue in Canada was particularly interesting to the visitors.

Regarding the possibility of British capital coming to Canada Colonel Holbrook urged Canadian companies to make their appeal for British money "on the spot." He had no doubt if the proper means were adopted, British capital could be secured.

Briton and Boer.

Speaking as a representative of a portion of the Dutch people of South Africa, N. Levi recalled that it had required a good deal of persuasion to make his countrymen join the British Empire, and in his journey across Canada, he remarked amid laughter, he had found many Canadians who had assisted in the task of bringing South Africa into the imperial fold. Mr. Levi referred to Premier Smuts' declaration that South Africa's connection with the Empire was a distinct advantage, but he pointed out that South Africa would welcome to its shores settlers not only from the British Isles, but from all parts of the world if they would accept South African ideals and institutions. "We enjoy the advantages of our connection with the British Empire, and we accept the responsibilities," he declared. As for his trip across Canada Mr. Levi said he could not forget it if he would, and would not if he could.

Preferential Trade.

F. Crosbie Roles, of Ceylon, referred to the trade agreement which Canada has just concluded with the West Indies, and he wondered if such an agreement could not be concluded with the East Indies. And in this connection he pleaded with Canadians to be tolerant toward natives of India who after all were British subjects. He felt that it would be wise for Canada to cultivate friendliness of that race with which Canadians had nothing in common for in the future, when British Columbia's population had grown to ten millions its people would be huge consumers of the products of the Far East.

"At last we are at the gateway of the Pacific!" exclaimed Viscount Burnham, President of the Empire Press Union, responding amid applause to the chairman's request for a speech. "In our spheres of influence, however great or small they may be, you may depend upon it, we shall do all we can to persuade our people to see more of this wonderful island than we shall be able to see.

"Blood and Fire."

"In letters of blood and fire the name of Canada has been written in the history of Europe and the history of the Empire and the things that your country has done never can be forgotten.

"No matter how threatening the future may be I believe, after seeing the length and breadth of Canada, that the last thing likely to happen is that the Dominion should detach itself from the Imperial whole. I have not heard a word tending toward separation in our trip. There has not been a sign of weakening or faltering in the loyalty of Canada to the Empire. From all this we have derived infinite encouragement.

"Long after the material features have faded from our minds we shall recognize that there is in actuality an Imperial spirit that moves the whole mass and actuates the minds and hearts of all who are proud to subscribe themselves to the greatest Empire the world has ever seen. So long as that spirit prevails we need not worry about constitutional machinery and ceremony. We in the Mother Land know that we can at all times count on the constant friendship of the loyal citizens of this Dominion, and in that knowledge we rest content."

Viscount Burnham concluded by calling for a toast to the Lieutenant Governor, which was drunk with enthusiasm. A toast to British Columbia was followed by three hearty cheers and the singing of the National Anthem.

WHY BEAUTY FADES

A Condition Due Entirely to Poor, Watery Blood

The girl who returns home from school or from work thoroughly tired out will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown, because this getting tired so easily is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning blood that must not be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes pale, haggard and angular. She not only tires out easily, but suffers from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and a loss of appetite. This condition will go from bad to worse, if prompt steps are not taken to increase and enrich the blood supply. To make the rich, red blood that brings the glow of health, no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If given a fair trial their use brings rosy cheeks, bright eyes, a good appetite and good spirits. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made thousands of pale, languid girls active and strong. On the first sign of poor, thin blood mothers should insist upon their daughters taking a fair course of these pills. They will not only restore health, but will save further doctor bills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PRESBYTERY WILL BE IN SESSION

The semi-annual session of the Victoria Presbytery is to be held next Tuesday, August 31, at 8 p.m., in St. Andrew's Church. A rally session is to be held on Wednesday evening, when the city congregations will plan their Autumn activities. The Rev. Alexander Esler, M.A., Vancouver, will speak on "Religion in the Home," in the absence of the Rev. J. Gibson Inkster. The Rev. W. H. Smith, M.A., D.D., principal of Westminster Hall, Vancouver, will also deliver an address at the gathering. A conference of workers among "teen age" boys will be held later, at which C. B. McGillivray, M.A., and Aubone Hoyle, directors of religious education in St. Andrew's and the First Presbyterian Church, respectively, will speak.

Amateur Photographers.—A meeting of the Amateur Photographic Society was held last night in the exhibition room of the Provincial Arts and Industrial Institute. There were between twenty and thirty members present, and each one brought some specimens of his work, which were displayed and discussed. The first annual general meeting of the society is to be held on Friday next, September 3, in the same place at 8 p. m. Several important and interesting subjects will be brought up, among which will be the report of the committee that is working on the proposed photographic exhibition.

Bicycle Thieves Busy.—A practically new Massey-Harris bicycle of the motorbike style, belonging to Lorne Ritchie, of the staff of D. E. Campbell, was stolen from the store about noon yesterday.

Discipline Relaxed.—At the last session of the Saanich Works Committee Councillor Graham made reference to the manner in which the road work in Ward Two had been carried out this year. He claimed that the $3,250 had been squandered through poor supervision, and had caused much time to be wasted.

Prominent Engineer Coming.—Either Chief Bridge Engineer Motley, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, or his senior assistant will be here in a few days to consult with City Engineer Preston on details of the Johnson Street Bridge. Strong Lemon Extract.—In the City Police Court this morning Mary Marshall, an Indian woman, was fined $25 or one month under the Indian Act for being in possession of a bottle of lemon extract analyzing 86.18 per cent. proof spirit. Constable Burnett stated that the bottle was sticking out of the front of the woman's dress when she was arrested in a tent on Store Street. She denied knowledge of where it had come from, claiming that it was a gift from a West Coast Indian.

☆ ☆ ☆

Driving Without Lights.—In the Saanich Police Court this morning the Island Auto Livery was charged with driving an automobile without headlights on Tillicum Road. The case was remanded until Tuesday morning to permit the manager of the livery to be present, Chief Brogan stating that unusual circumstances mark the charge.

☆ ☆ ☆

Charge Is Dismissed.—In the City Police Court this morning Magistrate Jay dismissed the charge against Arthur Johns of obtaining by false pretences goods valued at $71 and $4 cash from O. H. Dorman. The evidence showed that the accused had accompanied E. J. Dolan when the latter made certain purchases and paid for them with a cheque which he signed A. J. Kelly in the store, that was afterwards dishonored, and that Johns had selected a hat from the store for inclusion in the bill paid by Dolan. Further, at the time of his arrest Johns was wearing some of the shirts and underwear included in Dolan's purchases. O. H. Dorman testified that Johns made no comment on the cheque tendered by Dolan. Arthur Leighton, of Nanaimo, defended the case, and Magistrate Jay considered that there was not sufficient evidence of collusion to secure conviction.

☆ ☆ ☆

Queen Alexandra Review.—The last regular meeting of Queen Alexandra Review, W. B. A., was well attended, and many plans made for a busy season. The degree of Fraternity was conferred, and several applications received and accepted. Deputy Supervisor Lillian P. A rummage sale is to be held on September 2, which promises many bargains in seasonable clothing. The commander, Mrs. Galbraith, will give a silver tea at her home some time during the month. The friends of the members are to be entertained at a dance to be held at the K. of P. Hall on the 22nd, admission to be secured by invitation only.

MUSIC MAKES PEOPLE HAPPIER

Home of Arthurian Legend in English West Country Has Great Festival

(By G. J. Dyke)

The Milan Arena seats 20,000 persons. During the Summer months a series of open-air concerts, etc., at popular prices take place in this huge Arena. In the building is a colossal stage, with all accessories, and the lighting arrangements are simply wonderful. Imagine yourself seated in this Arena, in the twilight, listening to an orchestra, perfectly conducted, with the spice-laden Algerian zephyrs wafted across the blue seas of the Mediterranean, and witnessing a ballet of sixty or more, performing superbly, with exquisite ballet music beautifully played.

Organ Registration

A neat little volume is Gordon B. Nevin's "A Primer of Organ Registration." Mr. Nevin is a composer and an organist, and is a member of the clever Nevin family. The book is illustrated and what ought to appeal particularly interesting to organists, is the fact that it contains some photographs of fine organs.

Mme. Albani

In connection with the death of the ex-Empress Eugenie, the once famous and beloved soprano, Mme. Emma Albani has written to the London Telegraph, recounting an incident, not hitherto made known, of one of her numerous "commands" to Balmoral to sing before Queen Victoria. On this occasion the ex-Empress was present with the Queen, and not having heard much music since the Emperor's death, broke into tears at the end of Albani's first song. Good Queen Victoria wept for very sympathy, and the singer as she tells, had much ado not to join the royal weepers, but succeeded in finishing her solo. We rejoice to know that Mme. Albani is still with us, but her once beautiful voice will be heard no more.

Music Linked With the Occult

Cyril Scott, the English pianist-composer, at the early age of eighteen, turned eagerly to philosophy and at that age became a student of Schopenhauer and Nietzsche—he was then studying in Germany—two of the foremost philosophers of Germany. He returned to England and became more and more emerged in the English theologians, Darwin Tyndall, Wallace, Mill and Huxley, which negatived all he had hitherto believed. He reasoned with himself that life was not, nor could not be simply intellectual. Spiritual enfoldment must have its place in the ultimate meaning of life. At this point he was twenty-six years old, and now became interested in Hindu philosophy, and read deeply the theory of reincarnation. He now saw this earth as a plane in which the vast school of humanity, was slowly and painfully learning the lessons necessary for its advancement. Naturally this inflow of richness of spiritual revelation has left its imprint in the music of Cyril Scott, and as the cult of his music grows, the mystic qualities and the Oriental atmosphere which pervade many of his compositions—"The Algerian Suite," or "Eygptian Impressions," and "Melodies Persanes," become more and more apparent. He involves such seeming oddities as the seven bar phrase, and interchangalbe rhythms of 7-8 and 10-8 time. His book on the "Philosophy of Modernism in Connection with Music," and his essay, "The Occult Relation Between Sound and Color," are attracting wide attention. Shall we now add Philosopher to that of Pianist-Composer-Poet of our brother and talented Englishman?

A Regina Appointment

The new musical director, recently appointed, of the Regina College, is F. G. Killmaster, organist of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, Ontario. New appointments also and increases to the teaching staffs for the coming season, have been made at the Toronto Conservatories of Music.

"The Mystic Trumpet"

Hamilton Hartz, the young English composer of Irish parentage has written one of the most striking products of recent years. His "Mystic Trumpeter" has caught in a remarkable way the spirit of that fine poem. The work we notice is included in the programmes of the three days music festival given at Columbia University, N.Y., on the 9th, 10th and 11th of the present month.

Editor and Music Conductor

John J. Moncrieff, a Winnipeg newspaper editor, is a dominating figure in the music of that city. He is director and conductor of the Winnipeg Oratorio Society. This society gives an annual Spring Festival, and annually engages the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. Winnipeg has no Symphony Orchestra, but a movement is on foot to set the ball rolling in that direction. May it succeed!

A Few Church-goers Antagonistic

An American writer, who has been "rambling" through the principal cities of this Dominion on behalf of a musical paper says: "Many programmes are given in churches. This has not met with any serious opposition in Winnipeg, but in Regina I was told that churches could not be utilized for concerts there, because of the antagonistic feeling of many church-goers. I am afraid Regina does not stand alone in this respect. Speaking personally (there are those of course who will have the opposite opinion) I cannot understand the reason for the attitude of some people in their reluctance to have good concerts, lectures, etc. in their churches, which usually are the only buildings available for such events as require a large seating capacity. The doors of the churches are too often closed to the people. The public now-a-days are looking for amusement; for recreation, and the clergy, being well read men know this as few do. Why not have more and more of the best in the realm of music? When opportunity knocks at the church door open it wide and admit the public to a feast of the best. Besides, will this not open an avenue to the young and help maintain his interest in the church which too often passes out after the days of Sunday School.

Strange Noms de Guerre

Singers sometimes appear under strange "noms de guerre." A few years ago a singer announced herself as Mme. Tamisa, after the river Thames. This year there has gone one better. A singer announces herself as Mme. Gloria Britana, "The English Dramatic Soprano."

A Fine Cellist

Saloman Van Gelder, one of the finest of English cellists, recently passed away in Bath, England. He frequently played before royalty, King Edward being especially fond of his playing. He was associated for many years with the Pump Room Orchestra, at Bath.

Picture House Organs

The "Musician" says: "Playing for moving pictures is developing with astonishing rapidity into a dignified, well-paying position that has qualities and a charm of its own." Some of the finest organs in the world are now in the big metropolitan "movie" houses, and offer a lure for accomplished organists.

Music Makes Happier Workers

Music in factories, and in large retail stores is developing very rapidly. As an aid to industry it works wonders and it does not require very deep powers of perception why it should do so. There are many reasons why music makes workers work. Music inspires rhythm, and efficient workers are those who work steadily, with movements in rhythm. For instance, a girl is filling packages by hand, putting material of the same kind in packages of the same kind over and over again; thus making practically the same movements with her hands all day long. Surely no argument is needed to convince anyone of the value of music in inspiring rhythm to such a worker. Then again music by supplying this rhythm actually takes much of the burden of the day off the mind. It puts, too, a smile in the heart, and people in high spirits enter into any task with greater enthusiam. And music makes high spirits. Then lastly to the workers doing monotonous work, and there are thousands and thousands of them, tasks that require no great mental ability, but tasks that require a simple direction of movement by the brain, what quickening impulses are set in motion, and what inspiration the moment music's tune is set going. Music then makes workpeople better and happier at their daily tasks.

The Tower, Blackpool

The Grand Valse Carnival, "Love in Lilactime" has been the rage of Blackpool, at the Tower, Blackpool, with its bands. Concerts in the different halls throughout the Tower grounds, can entertain forty thousand people. It is safe to say that all north country people here know Blackpool and the Tower.

The Glastonbury Festival

In that ancient monastic stronghold of the West, Glastonbury, with its backgrounds of Arthurian legends there began last week the Glastonbury Festival, which continues up to September 11, including Sundays. These festivals are held with the object of founding an English centre for musical drama. This is an indication of what can be developed in Canada. Glastonbury is rich in dramatic and romantic suggestions, but are there not localities in this country with legendary material sufficient to inspire our composers, and warrant a yearly music festival. A Festival "Out-West," with such material as the Pacific Ocean; the days of the rush of gold seekers to the Cariboo, the Klondike, the legends of the tribes of Indians, and their "Reserves," the old Forts and Bastions of the Hudson's Bay Company, the Red Jackets of the R.N.W.M.P.; of the high mountains and huge forests of the last "Great West," surely here's material; here's inspiration for many and many a festival!

A Peal of 35 Bells

Cathistock, a village in Dorsetshire, England, possesses a particularly fine peal of bells, numbering thirty-five. This peal is a fairly close reproduction by the famous Aerschodt, of the carrillon at Louvain. A recital on these bells was recently given by that famous carillonneur, Joseph Denyn, of Malines Cathedral. The programme included pieces by Stephen Heller, Pleyel, Schumann, and English and French songs.

Weineawski's Violin

The famous violin—a handsome Guarnerius—once used by the great violinist, Weineawski, is now owned by Szigati, a Hungarian violinist.

Idioms in Music

Modern in idiom is the volume of piano pieces, by J. Gerrard Williams, an Englishman, "Pot-Pourri," a cycle of fragments—each composition being the name of a flower with titles such as "Pinks," "Lavender," "Roses," "Musk," Lilies of the Valley," "Thyme," etc. At the head of each "fragment" is printed a poem, each from a number of poems supremely slender and sentimental by Isabel Scott Bremner. This on "Thyme" is typical:

"So small, so sweet, scarce is its presence guessed,
Till broken under foot, its scent ascends;
So like the heart within the patient breast,
Sweetest when sharpest anguish tears and rends."

Some New Anthems

A notice in one of our daily newspapers calling attention to the regathering of the choir for their weekly practices, reminds me of some new anthems that are recommended for Sundays, concerts and festivals. They are: "Sing Unto God," by Charles Macpherson, "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," by Albert C. Tynol; "Rest in the Lord," by C. Lee Williams; "By the Waters of Babylon," by Palestrina (adapted to English words and edited by G. J. Bennett), and "I Heard A Great Voice Out of Heaven," by W. G. Alcock, the organist of Salisbury Cathedral. Clogged Nostrils Open Breathing Made Easy, Catarrh Cured!

New Method Very Successful

It is a new method of treatment, that of medicated air, and cannot fail to be beneficial. It goes wherever air can go, thus reaching all the affected parts. It purifies as by fire, simply burning up the disease germs.

Catarrhozone is a non-poisonous and healing agent; it therefore acts upon the mucous tissues of the throat, nasal passages, and bronchial tubes, destroying all microbe life, and at the same time heals up all the inflammed parts.

As a cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, La Grippe; as a strengthener for the throat, Catarrhozone cannot be equalled.

It is a guaranteed cure, and is highly endorsed by prominent physicians who use Catarrhozone in their practice.

Sufficient Catarrhozone for two months' use, price $1.00; smaller size 50c.; at all dealers.

WEDDED YESTERDAY.

On Friday a quiet wedding took place in St. John's Church when Frederick Southam, of Penticton, B.C., was married to Miss Jessie Oates of this city, the ceremony being performed by Rev. F. A. F. Chadwick, Rector of St. John's Church. The bride was accompanied by Mrs. N. Peton of Victoria, the groom being unattended. The young couple will make their home in Victoria.

New Troupe of Performers.—James Adam introduced a new troupe of performers to a party of friends at his home, 1160 Richardson Street, last evening. Four little maidens, M. Raymond, A. Raymond, B. Newlin and Margaret Adam, entertained with a new dancing creation, and a number of the latest popular songs. They also put on two little acts, which were greatly appreciated by those present. The young entertainers will repeat their performances in the near future.

More Building.—Two more Victoria homes have been found too small. The owners have started work adding additions which in one case at least will double the size of the house. Mrs. Norris, 180 St. Charles Street, and T. Hatcher, 1622 Pembroke Street, are both enlarging their homes. Dora Thorne had contractors start work this week on a new house at 1412 Ann Street. Building operations have also been commenced by E. F. Geiger at 717 Queen's Avenue.

Traps Women Flower Thieves.—So beautiful does the flower garden of Charles Minckler, 619 Toronto Street, appear this Summer that women and young girls cannot keep their hands off the flowers. They climb the fences and raid the flower beds. When Mr. Minckler and his friends watch by day the women and girls put off their depredations until after dark, when all is quiet. Last night Mr. Minckler had a night guard around the garden, and the flower-greedy women stealthily crept in when everything was quiet. Mr Minckler got their names by having them followed up. These names have been handed to the police. Mr. Minckler says sweet peas and roses have been the favorites with the women and they have been taking them away by the wheelbarrow loads.

The Most Searching Test of Phonograph Tone Quality Was Conducted in 1915

The Result was a Unanimous Verdict in Favor of The—

Sonora

It was at the Panama-Pacific Exposition that a competent and impartial jury of musicians tested all makes of phonographs exhibited—and the instrument they adjudged to be supreme in tone quality was the Sonora.

To-day the Sonora is still supreme. Its beautiful tone, its artistic cabinet work, its strong, silent motor and its ability to play ALL makes of disc records have made the Sonora the world's best and most popular phonograph.

Vernot Beaten by Ross In Final of 400-Metres

Swam Game Race But Lost to American; Ethelda Bleibtrey, of New York, Captures 300-Metre Event; Rowing Races Are Now In Progress; Beresford and Kelly Win.

Antwerp, Aug. 28.—(Associated Press)—Ethelda Bleibtrey, Women's Swimming Association of New York, won the final of the 300-metre free-style Olympic swimming for women here to-day.

The final of the 400-metre free style Olympic swimming race was won to-day by Norman Ross, of the Illinois A. C. George Vernot, of Montreal, who swam well in his heat, was unable to beat the American in the finals, although he swam well.

Swedes Do Well.

Antwerp, Aug. 28.—Sweden yesterday captured the first three places in the modern Pentathlon finals, when Dryssen, Deloval and Bund finished in the order named. Lieut.-Col. Robt. Sears and Capt. Harold M. Raynor, American contestants, finished sixth and eighth respectively.

The five events of the modern Pentathlon are: Rapid fire at target with revolver or pistol at 25 metres range; 300 metres free-style swimming; fencing; cross country riding (distance 5,000 metres) and cross country running (distance 4,000 metres).

Brussels, Aug. 28.—In the eight-oared boat races to-day winners only qualified for the semi-finals. The times of the winning boats were: First boat, Norway 6 minutes 32 seconds; second heat, England, 6 minutes 18 seconds. Third heat, United States, 6 minutes 25 seconds; fourth heat, France 6 minutes 37 seconds.

Beresford Wins Heat.

In the preliminary singles sculls in connection with the Olympic games, the heat events were contested. The winners of first places in each event alone qualified to compete in the semi-finals. Jack Kelly, of Philadelphia, the American singles champion qualified in the third heat in 7 minutes, 44 1-5 seconds; Bersford, England, took the first heat in 7 minutes 45 seconds. Eyeken, Holland, the second in 7 minutes, 50 seconds, and Hatfield, New Zealand, fourth, 8 minutes 5 seconds.

In the doubles sculls without coxswains, first heat won by Italy in 7 minutes 25 2-5 seconds. France took the second heat in 7 minutes 26 seconds, and the United States third in 7 minutes, 16 4-5 seconds.

P. F. WARNER, FAMOUS ENGLISH BATSMAN, LEAVES THE PITCH

London, Aug. 28.—(Canadian Associated Press.)—P. F. Warner, one of the most noted cricketers in England, played his last first class game to-day, when he captained the Middlesex team against Surrey. Mr. Warner first came into prominence when he scored 38 and 83 for rugby against Marlborough in 1890. He was a good bat at Oxford, but not a remarkable one. He took up his position among leading batsmen in 1899, when he made 150 for Middlesex against Yorkshire.

Mr. Warner was captain on two English teams in Australia, 1903-4 and 1911-12, both of which won the rubber games. The highest score made by Warner in a big match was his 244 for England against Warwickshire (champion county of the year) in 1911. Warner played when his health was not good for years and frequently he scored his fifty when he was not really in condition to play at all. He is forty-seven years old.

Y.M.C.A. FAREWELL AT CAMP CLOSING

A very enjoyable evening was spent yesterday at the Gorge when a number of the boys at the Y.M.C.A. camp got up a celebrating party to remember the closing of their camp.

Supper was held at the Japanese gardens. Friends and the staff of the Y.M.C.A. attended, and W. Hudson proposed a toast to the visitors, welcoming the ladies and staff of the Y.M.C. A. and called J. T. Barratt to respond on behalf of the visitors. In a short speech he thanked the members of the Y.M.C.A. camp for the excellent repast they had provided. A hearty greeting was given the new members of the Y staff.

Following the supper came the ride in canoes down the Gorge. Fourteen canoes were in waiting for the party, and Gordon Young towed all the canoes as far as the Craigflower Bridge, and back again, arriving at the Elks dance hall at nine o'clock, where the enjoyable evening was finished by dancing. The party broke up about 12 o'clock.

ERNEST BARRY IS AGAIN THE WORLD'S CHAMPION SCULLER

Bulletin, London, Aug. 28.—(Canadian Press)—Ernest Barry won the sculling championship of the world from Alfred Fulton to-day by twelve lengths.

Barry lost his crown to Fulton on the Thames last Summer in a very thrilling race, and immediately entered into arrangements for a match to retrieve his laurels. It was arranged that the pair should row on the Parramatta River, which flows into the harbor at Sydney, N. S. W. Barry made the journey to Sydney early this Summer, and went into careful training under the coaching of an old rowing master, Sloan. He confidently expected to beat Fulton, as he claimed he was unlucky in the race on the Thames. That Barry should have won by twelve lengths seems exceptional for a championship race. It is one of the worst defeats a champion sculler has ever received. Fulton is an Australian, and has had much experience in sculling.

Blighty Soccer Season Opens; Cricketers Alarmed

London, Aug. 28.—(Canadian Associated Press).—The tendency of the football season is to begin earlier than usual and finish later and the game threatens to become an all-year-round one. What, with the charity and practice matches, there are now only two months in the year quite clear of it.

League organizers kick off for the season to-day and the Scottish League has been carrying on throughout August.

Cricketers view these encroachments on the Summer with displeasure and alarm, but the popular demand for football has become so insistent and the commercial side of it so important that the temptation to managing authorities to make the most of the situation has been irresistible. The rapid development of the game has made professional footballers envied financially and the attractions of the pastime in this respect are substantial enough to insure that any difficulty in the sufficiency of first class players will be only temporary.

Look For Big Season.

All indications point to a record season for the game, under all codes. All old international events will be restored and the various championships more keenly fought than ever before. The games of the football league, under Association rules, command paramount attention, mere practice matches drawing crowds of from 10,000 to 12,000 and the moderate estimate is half a million for a regular Saturday programme of games.

Few Changes In Rules.

The only changes in the rules are slight modification in the offside rule, but an important change has been made in the constitution of the league by the incorporation of a previously independent Southern League with the addition of Grimsby to the third division. This gives a membership of sixty-six clubs. Grimsby were with Lincoln at the bottom of the second division last season, but both failed to get re-elected to their places, which were taken by Cardiff, formerly in the Southern League, and Leeds United, a new club. Notts County and Sheffield Wednesday, the lowest in the first division competition last year, descended to the second division. Tottenham Hotspur and Huddersfield Town are promoted from the second to the first division.

LOOKING THINGS OVER

Some Old Country papers are trying to disparage the Olympic Games. They are branding the games as a waste of time and money. Here is what The Daily Express has to say against the games:

"We will not disguise an extreme sense of boredom with this business of Olympic Games. Appeals for funds to enable us to send a conquering team of athletes to Antwerp seems to us almost impertinent in days when private munificence is so urgently needed for a host of essential objects. It would have been better, in our view, if the war had been allowed to bury the Olympic Games.

'At its best this athletic scheme was 'grandiose' in its conception. At its worst it wastes money and injures the spirit of sportsmanship without having any good effect on the relations of one people and another. Sports and games make for health and sanity. Their true spirit is not fostered by staking the honor of a country on a race for a hundred yards. The whole business seems to us petty, and even lamentable. Let us play the games and scrap the Olympic."

Any person who would disparage the Olympic Games must be keen on robbing the world of amateur sport. Any athlete who excels in a particular branch of sport in his own country is always anxious to match his ability against the leaders of other nations. As an amateur the only reward he receives for his steady, strenuous and careful training is honor. If the Olympic Games are done away with he will only have a chance to become a champion in his own country. He will never have an opportunity to call himself a world's champion. In the United States there is a common fault of branding stellar athletes as world's champions. This is entirely a misconception. World's champions can only be named when the best men of all nations meet. This meeting is only possible through the Olympiad held every four years. Kill the Olympiad and no one will be able to point to a world's champion, although probably every country will claim a lot of them.

Victoria's chances of winning the first pennant in the Pacific International League look exceptionally bright this week-end. By next Saturday the championship should be safely in the hands of President O'Brien. The series this week with Seattle has been very fruitful. The Capitals have played true to form. The Yakima team will be here next week and everything depends on this clash. Fortunately Tacoma will battle with Vancouver, which leaves the four leading clubs locked in a stubborn and critical finale. The Beavers have been going very strongly against Spokane this week and can be counted on giving the Tigers a rough time. It would not surprise us if the Beavers copped the series. The Yakima party cannot take three games from Victoria if the Capitals keep their ears back. With Harry Morton starting on Monday this will give Manager Leard a chance to use the big fellow once more during the week. No team in this league can beat Morton when he wants to pitch. Russell James, with Land catching him, is another safe bet for the Capitals. Cy Young may get by with a game. Alexander and Cunningham look like the weak ones.

Caps Took Another Step Pennantwards Yesterday

Cy Young Blanks Giants While Capitals Wielded Their Bats With Vengeance Against Wee Kelly's Offerings; Fifth Straight Win of Week.

Victoria, 5; Seattle, 0.

Victoria took another step pennantwards at the Stadium last evening. It was the fifth consecutive step taken in that direction this week and helped the Capitals to draw a little farther ahead of the stiff opposition which is being furnished by the Yakima and Tacoma clubs. The clean-up of this week's series is most timely, for in the final clash with the Fruit-pickers the Capitals will slip back several times. An even break with Yakima is the best anyone can hope for.

Wee Kelly showed his teeth on the mound last evening and for the second time he tried to chew up his former team-mates. The wee one, however, did not fare well. His big round curves baffled several of the Victoria swatters, but they managed to collect fourteen safe blows off him.

Away Again.

During the week the Capitals have shown a desire to hop off to an early start and have usually piled up sufficient runs in the first inning to tame the tail-enders. Last evening the home sluggers decided to show Kelly that his slants were as easy to pickle as a pig's foot. Wee Tom thought he knew the weakness of every Victoria batter, but he discovered that he had greatly deceived himself.

Carter Elliott, the first man up waited Kelly out and Leard, who took great pains throughout the game to show the wee one that no mistake had been made in casting him adrift, laced out a single. Brown beat out a nicely placed bunt and Carman drove the ball off second, scoring Elliott and Leard. When Cuyler booted the ball in the outfield, Brown scored. Carman was called out for not touching second. Church singled and Zienke walked but Cunningham had not found his batting eye and flew out, ending the inning.

An Easy One.

The Capitals got an easy run in the second. Young got a life at first when Hoffman dropped the throw from Shannon. He pilfered second went to third on Kelly's error and had hardly settled himself for the home sprint when the little pitcher uncorked a wild heave and Cyrus walked to the plate.

Victoria's last tally came in the eighth inning when Zienke clouted the pill into a garden across Belleville Street. It was his second circuit drive in two days.

Church Coming Back.

During the week Church has shown a marked return to his old form. He has been fielding his position better and is recovering his batting eye. For a time Church was a stranger to third base and did not seem to cover any more ground than what he stood up on. Lately, however, he has been galloping around and gobbling up line drives without a bobble. Church's recovery will assist the Capitals in their final drive. Yesterday he cut off several wicked clouts that seemed billed for the outfield.

As a result of snappy work by the infield, Cy Young let the Giants down with five hits. The visitors were only dangerous in the seventh when they filled up the bases.

ARRANGE TO HANDLE HUGE GOLFING PARTY

Colwood Club Expects 200 Entries in Championship To Be Held Next Week

"We are making arrangements to accommodate 200 golfers in the city golf championship which is to be conducted at the Colwood Links next week-end," stated Conrad Schwengers, secretary of the Match and Handicap Committee of the Colwood Golf and Country Club. "We are expecting that number of golfers to enter. Every member of the Colwood Club is expected to be in the competition. So far we have received fifty entries. Golfers are reminded that their entries must be in the hands of J. M. Wood, Begg Motor Company, before September 1. No post entries will be received."

Mr. Schwengers feels quite confident that the tournament will be a great success as a large number of entries have already been received, but he is hopeful that many persons who consider their golf mediocre will enter as they will be afforded three days of excellet playing. If they fail in the qualifying rounds, they will have a day's play in the flights, and if they again are unsuccessful will be entered in the two-card eclectic competition.

The tournament is arousing much interest among golfers as it will settle an old question as to who are the best lady and gentleman golfers in this city. The play will open next Saturday and the final round for the championship will be played on Monday.

HAWAIIAN FOOTBALL TEAM MAY PLAY HERE

James Dunbar Trying to Arrange for Games Next Summer With Champions

If the scheme now being forwarded by James Dunbar, of Honolulu, who is visiting this city, is carried out, British Columbia will be visited by a soccer team picked from the finest players on the Hawaiian Islands. This team will play one game in Victoria against a representative eleven, two in Vancouver and one in Nanaimo.

Mr. Dunbar realized that it is an expensive proposition, but believes that it can be carried out, and that it would be a great boast for soccer, both in this province and in the Islands. I is hope is to inaugurate an annual competition, the Hawaiians playing here next Summer, and the provincial champions visiting the Islands the following Summer.

Mr. Dunbar will take up the question with James Adam, president of the Victoria and District Football Association, next week, and hopes that he will be able to make progress with his scheme.

Mostly Scotsmen.

While Mr. Dunbar admitted that some of the footballers on the Islands are natives, the bulk of them are Scotsmen. On the Islands there will be fifteen soccer teams this Winter, and he pointed out that this would give them about 200 players to pick from. The brand of football played there is exceptionally fine. Last year the Honolulu All-Star team won the championship of the Islands from the Hilo All-Star team.

To give an idea of the condition of the Hawaiian team, Mr. Dunbar hoped that it would be possible to arrange to play the four games while the steamship Niagara is in port at Vancouver. He says that the team can play a game every day. Six hours rest is all that the Hawaiians required. From his description of the stamina of the native players they seemed to have solved the principle of perpetual motion.

GEORGE SISLER IS STILL PACE-MAKER

St. Louis Batting Star Has Hit 24 Consecutive Games —Others Slipping

Chicago, Aug. 28.—George Sisler, St. Louis star first baseman, who hit consistently in twenty-four consecutive games before he was stopped recently, continues to top American League batters who have participated in fifty or more games, according to averages released to-day, which include games of last Wednesday. Sisler is batting .401. Tris Speaker, the Cleveland manager, suffered a further slump in the past week, but continued to be the runner-up with .394. "Babe" Ruth, the home-run king, who was tied with Joe Jackson, the Chicago slugger, went into a slump and dropped away from Jackson, with whom he was tied last week for third place. Jackson is hitting .380, while the New Yorker is batting .376. Ruth bagged one home run since the last averages were compiled and his string was stretched to 44. He continued to lead in runs scored with 132, and a total bases of 312.

Rice, of Washington, failed to add to his total of stolen bases, but continued in front with 45 thefts.

Other leading batters: E. Collins, Chicago, .365; Meusel, New York, .353; Rice, Washington, .348; Jacobson, St. Louis, .345; Weaver, Chicago, .343; Hendrix, Boston, .340; Judge, Washington, .335; Earl Smith, St. Louis, .330; Milan, Washington, .327; Felsch, Chicago, .325; Jamieson, Cleveland, .324; Cobb, Detroit, .322.

Nicholson, of Pittsburgh, is giving Roger Hornsby, of St. Louis, a hard run for batting honors in the National League. The Pittsburgh outfielder has batted himself to within four points of the St. Louis star, who is topping the list with .367. Nicholson's mark is .363.

A week ago Nicholson passed Rousch, of Cincinnati, for third place and in the past week he added 22 points to his average and stepped ahead of Eayres, of Boston, who is now in third place with .349, while Rousch continues in fourth place, with .335. Hornsby continued to lead in total bases with 252 and has worked into a tie with Bancroft, of New York, in runs scored. Each has registered 76 times.

Cy Williams, of Philadelphia, for the second week failed to add to his home run total, but is well in the lead with 13 circuit drives. Max Carey, of Pittsburgh, tacked on three stolen bases this past week and is showing the way with 45 thefts. Other leading batters: Stock, St. Louis, .330; Young, New York, .326; King, New York, .323; Konetchy, Brooklyn, .320; J. VARDON AND RAY WIN MATCHES AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Aug. 28.—Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, the touring British golfers, won two matches here in their first appearance on local courses yesterday before large galleries. In the morning, on the Pine Ridge course, they won an 18-hole match five up and four to play from George Daniels and Ernest Penfold, local professionals. In the afternoon they won a hard fought game at the Elmhurst course from M. Thompson, a local amateur, and Hughie Fletcher, a professional, by a score of three up and one to play.

What is a Dollar?

A Dollar, whether on Government paper or in gold, is of no value in itself but only as it represents the products of man's labor.

∴

It is not the number of dollars a man owns that makes him rich but the amount of the necessaries of life the dollars actually represent.

∴

The value of the dollar therefore depends upon production which to-day is inadequate, so that we require many more dollars "to get along with."

∴

A period of scarcity like the present demands more money than would be needed were the production of food, clothing, houses, furniture, etc., more abundant.

∴

We should have almost twice as much money for the same purposes as we did ten years ago and therefore we require twice as much life insurance as we held ten years ago to secure the same protection.

IT IS NOT THE NUMBER BUT THE VALUE OF THE DOLLARS THAT COUNTS 218

FOUR TEAMS EVEN ON WEEK'S TOURNAMENT

Olbs, of Vancouver, and Five C's, Incogs and Victoria in Play-off For Laurels

Olbs, of Vancouver, suffered their first defeat in the cricket tournament at the Jubilee Hospital grounds yesterday. They fell before their fellow-townsmen, the Vancouver Club. As a result of the Olbs' defeat four are tied for the leadership. Olbs are the only outsiders in the play-off, the other three teams being Five C's, Incogs and Victoria. The semi-finals are being played to-day and the finals are down for Monday.

Vancouver went in to bat first and ran up a splendid total of 195 runs, several of the batsmen being in good form and hitting consistently. The Olbs started their innings badly and were all out for 91.

Wilkinson, the sensational bowler of the Five C's, was in splendid form and took 10 of the Garrison's wickets for 14 runs. It was one of the finest bowling exhibitions seen here this year. Eight of the wickets were clean bowlers. The Garrison made a total of 54 runs. Five C's had a merry time, batting 191.

The Congos slipped again. This time Nanaimo took them into camp. The Congos made only 67 in their innings. Nanaimo stepped out and made 128.

Incogs triumphed in a rather one-sided game with Cowichan at the University grounds. Kinch provided the batting feat of the day but by getting within the select century circles. He batted 101, sufficient to defeat Cowichan, who only made 93 runs. The Incogs made 220 before their last wicket had fallen.

The Army and Navy Veterans provided little opposition to Victoria at the Canteen grounds. The Veterans scored 53 runs in their innings. Victoria declared their innings after two wickets had fallen for 110.

GIANTS YANK REDS OUT OF FIRST PLACE

Players Have Little Fight Around Base—White Sox Beaten By Yankees

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Cincinnati, Aug. 28.—The Giants pulled the Reds out of first place yesterday by winning the first game of a double-header in seventeen innings, 6 to 4. Both teams hit freely at the start and the score was tied at the end of the sixth, after which Fisher and Nehf pitched brilliantly until the seventeenth, when the visitors scored tfo runs on singles by Young and Kelly and a double by Doyle. Both pitchers went the full distance and their support was fast.

The second game went only five innings and was called for darkness, neither side scoring.

In the second game Crane and King had a fist fight at second base when the Red shortstop claimed King interfered with his attempt at a double play. Players of both teams rushed to the scene and King was knocked down. Neither man was put out of the game.

ROYAL VICTORIA

Theatregoers may now enjoy once more the brilliant performances of William Faversham, who, after an absence of several years from American dramatic activities, appears in the ranks of the motion picture stars under Selznick management. His first production as a Selznick star is "The Man Who Lost Himself," a romantic mystery drama by H. de Vere Stacpoole, which will be shown at the Royal Victoria Theatre for the last time to-night.

"The Man Who Lost Himself" depicts the experiences of a financially embassassed American in London. He becomes some one else overnight without his consent or knowledge, and has some equally thrilling and laughable times passing from the true self to the false one. The situation is complicated by the existence of a wife, relatives, a fortune, and a title.

The photoplay is declared to be one fully worthy of the talents of its leading player. It was directed by George D. Baker. A notable cast supports Mr. Faversham.

DOMINION

Bert Lytell, star of "Alias Jimmy Valentine," now showing at the Dominion Theatre, has been hailed throughout the country as the big "discovery" of the year in the motion picture world. Critics are still expressing surprise at the highly finished artistry of the young star. Never was more fulsome praise given than that which greeted Mr. Lytell for his recent performances in "Lombardi, Ltd.," the Morosco stage success by Frederic and Fanny Hatton, "The Right of Way," the picturization of Sir Gilbert Parker's novel, and now in "Alias Jimmy Valentine."

The odd part of it is that so many of the reviewers regard Mr. Lytell as a "new" actor. But he's "new" only in the sense of winning wider and wider acclaim. His "leap to fame" was not made over night. It was the result of years of the hardest kind of theatrical training.

Early last year Lytell made his advent on the screen as a Metro star, after doing "The Lone Wolf" for Herbert Brenon. His Metro pictures, beginning with "The Trail to Yesterday" and ending with "Easy to Make Money," established him as a strong drawing card. But it is in his big three special Metro productions—"Lombardi, Ltd.," "The Right of Way" and "Alias Jimmy Valentine," that he has truly come to his own.

His father and mother were both on the stage and his grandfather was J. K. Mortimer, a famous member of Augustin Daly's company. Mr. Lytell was born in New York City, but spent most of his boyhood in the West before going to college in Canada.

VARIETY

At least one great photoplay got its origin from a Third Reader. Perhaps that statement is a trifle unfair. The fact is, however, that the Third Reader got the story from the old classic myths. It was the story of Pandora and her adventure with the forbidden box, which she opened contrary to orders and was rewarded for her curiosity by letting loose in the world the myriad of troubles which have been bothering the world ever since. The photoplay in question is "Forbidden," the latest Universal Jewel release, featuring Mrs. Charlie Chaplin (Mildred Harris), which is at the Variety Theatre. The writing of the story happened in this manner: E. V. Durling, a New York newspaper man, was calling on a noted child actor in Los Angeles for an interview. Before he finished the interview the child was called to take part in one of the sences of a photoplay. While waiting for his return, Mr. Durling picked up a Third Reader which the boy had laid down and opened it to where a book mark had been inserted at the story of Pandora and the forbidden box.

COLUMBIA

Theatregoers who have watched the progress of the motion picture art are rarely surprised by new thrills in story, or startling developments in photography, but it is safe to predict that when "The Great Air Robbery," the new Universal special, starring Lieutenant O. L. Locklear, was first flashed on the local screen at the Columbia Theatre, the most sophisticated theatregoers opened their eyes a bit wider, and felt a new tingle.

"The Great Air Robbery" is the biggest achievement of the film-art of the air. Its star, Lieut. Locklear, is famous as the aviator who accomplished the feat of changing from plane to plane in mid-air, and in this production he has many opportunities to repeat this daring exploit within full view of the camera.

Charlie Chaplin in "A Day's Pleasure," and the thunderbolt serial, "Elmo The Fearless," featuring Elmo Lincoln, are the added attractions for the special matinee for children to-day.

PANTAGES

The photoplay of the hour, "The Moonshine Trail," is the feature on the programme at Pantages Theatre, Monday and Tuesday. Produced, directed and written by J. Stuart Blackton for distribution by Pathe, it is a poignant human heart drama brimful of pathos and feeling, touching upon one of the burning questions of the day.

Sylvia Breamer and Robert Gordon, who were last seen together in "Missing," one of Mr. Blackton's masterpieces, are co-starred in strong dramatic roles. The supporting cast includes such well-known names as Julia Swayne Gordon, Vandyke Brooke, Leo Delaney, Fanny Rice, Gus Alexander, Eddie Dunn and many others. Charles and Violet Blackton, the two very attractive and talented children of J. Stuart Blackton, add a comedy touch all their own.

PRINCESS

This is the last day of the clever comedy now being staged at the Princess Theatre. The usual matinee to-day promises a rare treat for the kiddies, and, the grown-ups too of course, but, the small boy and girl should not miss "The Renovated Ranch. It's just what the doctor ordered, and a sure cure for the blues.

Columbia—"The Great Air Robbery."

Cabaret

The Criterion—Belmont House.

The play advertised to follow "The Renovated Ranch" is the "Spendthrift". But owing to the fact that this play was produced by the Allen Players here a few years ago, this fact not being known until to-day, the management has chosen in it's stead for next week "The Cinderella Man" a comedy drama of excellent worth and reputation.

Miss Page and Mr. Aldenn have decidedly the two most lovable characters to portray which have fallen to their lot since their stay in Victoria and the Cinderella Man is a play that will appeal to the hearts of young and old alike, so full of dainty humor and touching pathos is every line of the clever dialogue. "The Cinderella Man" will begin Wednesday evening, September 1, at the Princess Theatre.

To-day's matinee and to-night's performance are your last chances to see "The Renovated Ranch."

CHARLOTTE GREENWOOD.

Oliver Morosco will present Charlotte Greenwood, the well-known comedienne, in her new musical comedy, "Linger Longer, Letty" (entirely different from her former success, "So Long, Letty") at the Royal Victoria Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, August 30 and 31.

"Linger Longer, Letty" was written by Anne Nichols, the story concerns Letty, a competent but ugly duckling, who is called upon by the members of her family, to do everything from making ice-cream to tying her father's neckties, but when it comes to parties and beaux, Letty is side-tracked by her sisters as a modern Cinderella. Finally Letty rebels with Jim, her sweetheart, who is also an ugly duckling, she stages a transformation scene and she and Jim become the most desired partners at all the dances. With their transformation, Letty and Jim realize that they love each other instead of the objects of their earlier desires.

Charlotte Greenwood has a way of saying and doing things that appeals irresistibly to the audience and uproarous laughter invariably follows. Miss Greenwood is supported by an excellent company, a well-drilled chorus in brilliant costumes, and attractive stage settings add to the success of the play.

Mr. Morosco is sending the company and production direct from the Fulton Theatre and it will be seen in Victoria exactly as it was presented in New York City.

Worn Rugs

Rugs that are worn at the corners and ends may be mended in this simple way. Cut off all the worn parts; buttonhole the edge with colored wrapping cord to match the color in the rug, then, with a crochet needle and single stitch fill in, back and forth, changing colors when needed. If this is carefully done the mended parts are scarcely noticeable and the rug will wear.

Washing Rugs

When either rugs or small carpets require washing, dissolve four ounces of good white soap in four ounces of boiling water. When cool add five ounces of liquid ammonia, two and a half ounces of glycerine and two ounces of chloroform. Bottle and cork well for use. When needed add one teaspoonful of the preparation to a pail of tepid water and wash the carpet with a flannel and soap in the usual way. One wash will have a wonderfully cleaning and brightening effect. Stretch out on a flat space tightly nailing the corners or sides if necessary, to prevent shrinking. When dry take up and shake well.

The basis of most prepared silver polish is French whiting, a fine white powder. It is much cheaper to buy the whiting and make your own silver polish. Wash it in hot soapsuds and wipe it. Lay a paper on the table. Put some of the whiting in a saucer and add enough ammonia or diluted alcohol to make a paste. Rub this over the silver with a soft cloth and lay the silver on a paper to dry. When you have finished this, rub the whiting off with a clean soft chamois skin.

Laundered Curtains

Darn all holes by placing tissue paper underneath, then sew closely on sewing machine. Make a suds hot as can be borne on the hands. Fold curtains flat, small enough to go through wringer. Work carefully with the hands and press through wringer. If much soiled use another suds, rinse and starch without unfolding, using wringer for each.

Spread sheets on a carpet and pin. Carefully unfold curtains, spread out perfectly true and even, then pull out each scallop; the wet curtain will adhere to the sheet without pinning, and when dry will hang as true as if stretched on a frame. It requires a little time to stretch them in this manner, but the present high prices almost compel a little painstaking.

Making Soap

Take all the bits of soap that are too small to be longer used; shave down, let soak in soft water enough to cover them over night. In the morning add more soft water and boil until thoroughly melted and of the consistency to taffy. Pour in molds and you have a nice cake of soap.

Yankee Shaving Soap

Take three pounds of white bar soap, one pound of castile soap, one quart of rain water, one-half quart of beef's gall, one gill of spirits of turpentine. Cut the soap into thin slices; boil five minutes after the soap has dissolved. Stir while boiling; scent, with oil of rose or almonds. If you wish to color it use one-half an ounce of vermillion.

Wall Paper Cleaner

Here is an easily made, cheap, wall paper cleaner that will not crumble or smudge:—One cupful of flour, one-half cupful of cold water, two tablespoonfuls ammonia, two tablespoonfuls vinegar, one tablespoonful salt, one tablespoonful kerosene. Cook in a shallow pan until it forms a ball, stirring constantly. Let it cool thoroughly before using. This is especially good for paper on rooms in houses in the soft coal districts, where the walls are blackened somewhat from the furnace all Winter. Mix the ingredients in the order named.

SUNSHADE GAYETY.

THERE was a time in the affairs of fashion when an umbrella was—well, just an umbrella and was used to keep the rain off all the year around. But times have changed, and with them the rain stick.

In winter milady depends upon the umbrella as she has always known it—a solid, substantial sort of thing built for utility rather than for beauty, but for summer she prefers something much less austere, something gay and colorful or exquisitely tinted, and as for the handle, often she decides upon one that is an object of art. Opinion may be divided as to the charm of the lizard au naturelle, but every one must admit that there is something peculiarly fascinating about its little skin when the skin is wrapped around the handle of a sunshade, previously dyed, of course, to match the predominant color. And speaking of colors leads one to add that from observation cherry, green, mauve and purple are the greatest favorites.

When spring was yet in its infancy there were rumors that sunshades were not going to occupy their usual position of honor this season, but rumor was mistaken: they are, nor do they vary greatly in shape from those of years gone by—the difference comes in the covering.

Hand painted, trimmed with feathers or fur, fashioned of lace or muslin—there is a type for every taste and almost every sunshade has its bag to match.

When trimly attired in a tailor made milady carries a sunshade that is simply made as it may be, is bright of color but trimmed not at all. But for morning wear in the country and as a complement to the cotton frock there is nothing that she likes better than the parasol of cretonne. It adds such a gay note to the costume.

Chantilly lace is a favorite of the hour and edges the sunshade quite as often as it drapes a frock, often drooping quite harem fashion over milady's eyes.

PHOTOS UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD

The cockatoo and the tropical tree must divide the honors on this colorful cretonne parasol.

TAFFETA CHARM.

The choice of any costume should in three-quarters part depend upon individual becomingness. It matters not a whit how lovely a frock or hat may be if it loses its virtues in the eyes of those who must look upon it the minute it becomes a part of milady's costume.

Perhaps taffeta has not been worn quite as much this season as last, but it is still popular with more than a few, and one favorite way of developing a frock fashioned of this material in giving it a quaint basque bodice and a tiered or scalloped skirt.

Fringes and uncut edgings have disappeared from view, and in their places—even at the beginning of Summer—came rushings of taffeta and queer little wheels and ornaments of lace edging, the latter frequently tinted to match the gown, and this ornamentation has gained in favor as the season has advanced.

Speaking of elaboration, it may be interesting to notice that galoons are treated in the same way and blossoms and leaves are made of chiffon velvet taffeta and even organdie.

FOR GARDEN WEAR

Bright little marigolds, gay dahlias, gorgeous poppies, ragged bachelor buttons, demure and stately hollyhocks—all of them calling, "Come out and make merry with us," these are the days when the lure of the garden is almost impossible to resist, and those of us who are fortunate enough to be where the grass is green and the breezes cool we hie us into the open and tread the flower-bordered paths—but never unless we are dressed for so joyous an occasion.

Once organdie might have scorned to form an alliance with gingham, deeming it far too humble for anything of such exalted station as itself, but now it is glad of any opportunity that affords it the privilege of appearing in public with this Cinderella of fabric-land that has so decidedly "come out of the kitchen" and taken its rightful place in the parlor and indeed upon the street.

Could any more appropriate frock for garden wear be well imagined than this attractive affair in which these two materials are so cleverly combined? Over the dress of green and white checked gingham falls an over-drop of organdie and the latter is edged with the gingham and at its girdle is a cunning little make-believe flower fashioned of the gingham.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIFE.

Retain the full flavor of new potatoes by boiling them in their skins.

Salad plants should be planted in relays, so that there is always plenty.

Egg shells are invaluable for clarifying drippings and cleaning bottles.

Spiced gooseberries make a most delightful accompaniment to cold meat.

An attractive salad is seasoned crab flake in tomato or green pepper cases.

Butter fat is very important for growing children and for most other people.

RATTAN CHAIRS.

When chair bottoms of rattan become loose and baggy stand them in a tub and pour two or three kettlefuls of boiling water through the woven rattan. Do this on a bright, warm day and set the chairs out in the sun. In a few hours the bottoms will be as tight and straight as when they were new.

SAVING IRONING.

There is no reason why flannels or stockings or knitted goods of any sort should be ironed. They should be pulled out well after they are dried and folded neatly and that is all they need. Dish towels certainly do not need ironing and it is an utter waste of time to iron dusters. Turkish towels are better if not ironed. They should be well pulled out and folded neatly and laid in flat piles, and that is enough.

For an additional bit of saving in ironing try letting the bed sheets go unironed. They should be dried smoothly, pulled straight, when they are dried and folded carefully. If you wish to, after you have laid them in these folds you may lay a board on them and on this place some sort of heavy weight, so that they take the creases of the folds without wrinkles, but this is not necessary.

If they have been dried in the sunshine you will find that they retain that wonderful fragrance from the fresh air and sun that is taken away when they are ironed.

PIECING TOGETHER THE "SCRAPS" OF TIME.

When you look at one of these modern patchwork quilts do you moralize a bit? Perhaps you think it such a waste of time and eyesight to cut, baste and painstakingly sew each tiny scrap into its proper set place. Why not use one's time more profitably?

Patchwork Quilt

Each quilt that is made represents a story, perhaps, if we could delve into the life history of the maker.

"To pass the time away" is an age old plaint or reason for doing certain things—nearly always the reason for making a patchwork quilt. How many dull hours (for dull people, the cynic might say) have been pleasantly whiled away cutting and sorting bright scraps of muslin!

To-day we have before us a very lovely quilt, the genius known as "Daisy Basket," and made by a woman of wealth. It seems incongruous to associate quilt making with teas, dinners, clubs and golf, yet the woman in the case is a devotee of all these things and still finds time and the inclination to make intricate patchwork.

"It has helped me to pass many an otherwise lonely hour," she says, adding: "I have to wait for my husband a lot and I keep these scraps ready to pick up."

Sitting in an automobile with her watching a ball game recently, it was noted that she took from her pocket an envelope containing several "pieces," a needle and thread and began industriously sewing.

"I don't care for ball games, so I'll sew."

Moment "Now and Then."

When callers come, out comes the needle and thread, and when going on an automobile outing the inevitable patchwork pieces accompany the party—"something to do in case we are delayed."

So you see quilting may become an obsession.

Yet the main reason, we think, this subject of quilts is worth holding up for discussion is this:—The utilization of a few minutes now and then results in such wonderful masterpieces of design!

You need not make quilts, but how about using your odd moments to some definite end? There are other masterpieces than quilts that your minutes now and then can accomplish. Also, you can save yourself boredom.

Another thought comes in looking at this "Daisy Basket" Quilt. The colors are so much more harmonious than those of our grandmother's day. We are learning a lot in this respect as to color and design.

There is no weariness, no ennui, like that of doing nothing—and the time one wastes doing nothing may be so golden.

People who waste moments usually waste hours, days. Are you using your time to some purpose? Your minutes are like these scraps of red, white, blue and green of the quilt—a jumble of "pieces" waiting for the thread of your resolve to make something of your like.

What sort of a quilt would result if the maker had no plan, no design to follow? We'd think the workman a very foolish person, wouldn't we? No more foolish than you, perhaps, drifting alone without chart or compass as far as life plans are concerned.

If you have made plans, are they good workable ones? You can learn another lesson here from our quilt maker.

Concentrating Habit

In the shops one can procure these quilts stamped, the pieces cut out, all ready for putting together. But does the subject of this story begin her quilt making this way? Not she! This is what she tells you:—"As it takes such a time to make one of these quilts, since it is to last for so long, be handed down to future generations and be known as my handiwork, I want it to be of the very best material procurable, so I bought the goods and cut the design myself."

What if we gave this much thought to our life plans? What could we not accomplish? There are no broken or wilted daises on this quilt. Each is placed firmly and with painstaking care.

USE FOR JARS.

Preserving jars are gradually being emptied. Use the pint ones for rice, dried peas and beans, also cornstarch and such articles. They look much neater on pantry shelves, and you can tell at a glance the contents. Jelly glasses also with the tight tin covers, are fine for holding spices of all kinds. Wash and dry all the paraffine and put it in tightly covered box for use again in the Fall. Save magazine covers. Made into paper beads, one inch length, combined with glass beads of assorted colors, the same length, they make handsome portieres. Some people use wall-paper, but the magazine covers are far handsomer and cleaner to work with. The portieres are much nicer than heavy draperies in Summer. We use the bead curtains also on china closet. They are really very pretty.

BIRTHDAY CAKE.

For the birthday cake—After the cake is all ready for the top frosting, a few penny dolls that have been carefully washed may be placed deep in the top layer and then the top frosting and the candles. This will surprise and please the little tots. When the frosting is white, the candles blue and their holders red the cake is especially pretty.

Sometimes the fruit, peanuts or the candy may be hidden among the dishes, vases, etc., and the children form a hunting bee.

PRESERVING UP-TO-DATE

Whether we possess good utensils or not we all surely want all the help we can get from newly designed canning utensils, for scientific methods mean certain success and often a great deal less work and worry. So, economy of materials and strength considered, up to date canning-equipment is certainly worthy of every home-maker's consideration.

Equipment.

One of the most essential things in choosing canning utensils is to secure them of materials that will not be affected by fruit or vegetable acids, which might effect their taste or color. For this reason preserving kettles that are porcelain lined or enamelled are best. Wooden spoons and mashers are also very useful. Long handled wooden spoons have the advantage, too, of not heating up so that they are difficult to handle if they are left a few minutes in the kettle with the cooking fruit.

Preserving kettles that are shallow and broad, rather than deep and narrow across, are the best shape to select, as they expose more fruit to the heat, and this cooks more fruit in a shorter time which makes a better product and saves fuel.

A "new idea" kettle just designed for canning is made of iron, with all the surfaces enamelled and the inner one white enamelled. It comes in sizes holding from six to twenty quarts, and is satisfactory for other daily uses in the kitchen. Whatever type of preserving kettle is chosen, at least two are needed.

The Preparations.

In preparing the fruit for the kettle the following utensils are almost indispensable: Large mixing bowls of earthenware or stone crocks, scales for accurate weighing, some large pans and a colander. Strawberry hullers, which only cost a nickel are much preferable to using the fingers to hull strawberries, as the slightest foreign matter on fruit may be the cause of a spoiled jar later. A silver knife is best to use when peeling fruit to avoid darkening it in any way, although with peaches and tomatoes one can practically peel the fruit by immersing it for a minute or two in boiling water. Cherry pitters are also useful. A strainer, a fine sieve, a skimmer, a ladle, a large mouthed funnel and a straining bag are all needed as the fruit cooks.

To make the straining bag, or jelly bag as it is often called, choose either flannel or cheesecloth, or even a sugar sack, about three-quarters of a yard square. Fold the lower edge to the left hand side so it forms a cornucopia and stitch together firmly. Add a couple of tapes to hang up the bag when straining the juice from fruit pulp.

Necessaries.

Other modern utensils that help make the results of home canning as efficient as factory products are a thermometer or a sirup gauge, a glass cylinder and a fruit pricker.

In jars, many housekeepers prefer the long standard Mason jars of glass in pint and quart sizes, but a very nice jar, for any one buying new ones, is the Economy jar, for it has straight sides that make it easy to fill or empty of whole fruits and very easy to sterilize and keep sanitary. New rubbers are needed for canning every year, and it pays to buy the best of a reliable dealer. To use old rubbers that "look good" is an extravagant economy, for nine times out of ten it means spoiled fruit.

With the up to date "cold pack" method of canning, so popular because labor saving and successful at the same time, a wash boiler is needed, with some kind of a trivet that permits the water to circulate beneath the jars. Individual canning racks to use with this method cost but little, and canning racks holding eight one quart jars that fit into wash boilers and fold flat when not in use may be obtained. Many home made substitutes for this device are successful, however. A piece of wire screening with coarse meshes about an inch square is good, and young willow branches woven into a mat will answer the purpose.

To lift the jars from the water, when the fruit is done, a duplex fork is a great convenience.

THE SHAMPOO.

Shampoo at least every week, or twice or three times a week if necessary to keep the scalp free of dandruff. Do your own shampooing, and rinse the hair scalp repeatedly with tepid water to remove all soap.

After shampoo rub into scalp a two per cent. solution of salicylic acid in alcohol. This may be prepared, if you like, by dissolving about a dram (sixty grains) of salicyclic acid in six ounces of your favorite toilet water. A little of the same solution may be applied with finger tips to scalp night and morning.

Be sure to clean hair brushes and combs as often as you shampoo head and let the brush stand as much as possible in sunlight. Also expose head to sunlight whenever possible, to stimplate hair growth and discourage the germs which cause dandruff and falling hair.

SUNFLOWERS.

Sunflowers grow from seed the same year and are easy to raise. Plant a long row of them and between the plants set golden glow. By and by you will have a brilliant golden hedge at the back of your garden. Salvia, raised in another bed, may be transplanted after to the sunflower border, and your gold and scarlet hedge will be an added delight in autumn. Be sure to plant marigolds in your garden, too. They blossom very late in the fall and after a good many other flowers have gone brighten the house in orange-gold clusters.

OIL SILK UMBRELLAS.

The oil silk which has been used so extensively for the light weight rain coat, is being shown in a similar fabric for umbrellas. They have tinted galalith handles, and large galalith tips used on the ribs of the umbrella. Two shades are displayed, a tan-yellow and a dark purple, with a darker tone binding edge of silk about an inch in width.

Leave stems about an inch long on beefs, else the color will rook out.

The Archbishop's Western Canada Church Fund

From a Sermon Preached in Westminster Abbey by Most Rev. S. P. Matheson, D.D., Archbishop of Rupert's Land and Primate of All Canada.

Ordinarily, as some of my friends know, I shrink from appearing in the pulpit of great churches, such as this historic Abbey. Right gladly, however, did I accede to the request of the Archbishop of Canterbury to preach the sermon this afternoon and for this reason. We are here first of all to join with him and his brother of York in thanking God devoutly for the way in which He has blessed the effort which they jointly launched some years ago, known as the "Archbishops' Western Canada Fund." In the interests of the Church in the part of our overseas Dominions to which I belong. We are here to-day to receive, I understand, the final contributions to that Fund from the various Dioceses in England, and to thank them before God for their gifts. As Metropolitan of the Ecclesiastical Province to which this special help has so beneficently gone and is to continue to go, it is fitting that on behalf of the grateful beneficiaries, I should be here to-day publicly to say "Thank You" to the two Archbishops; "Thank You," to our fellow Church people in the Motherland for what they have done for us, and very reverently to say to God "We thank and praise thy glorious Name."

Its Need

To begin with, when I outline to you the inception of the effort and its subsequent progress, you will realize how very timely the A.W.C.F. was. Some years ago, as doubtless you are aware, immigrants were pouring into North-West Canada by hundreds of thousands. In a single season, and everything else in the way of development and expansion had to follow in the wake of that influx. Railways were branching out in divers directions in a way previously undreamed of. Homesteads were being taken up and were spreading all over those prairies, not only in weekly but in daily succession. Villages and towns were springing up like gourds in a single night. Only those who were on the spot could realize the absolutely phenomenal nature of the expansion and settlement. The problem before our young Church over there was to parallel all this sudden progress with adequate equipment in men and means and buildings. The thing was simply impossible for us to cope with.

A Heavy Problem

The Church in the older parts of Eastern Canada came to our aid right nobly, but even it could not set up its machinery quickly enough to produce the output required to meet the situation. The Church Societies in England, to their honor be it said, sent their agents out to view the situation, and not only increased their former block grants, but raised special funds to meet the emergency. But nothwithstanding all this, the Bishops of Western Canada found themselves quite unable to follow up the advancing tide of settlement with the ministrations of the Church,

The consequence was that large areas had to be left unoccupied by the Church, and people who at home had been accustomed to the regular services of their Church, were left in their new and lonely homes destitute of the Word and Sacraments as far as the public services of the Church were concerned. It was then, at that critical moment, that the two Archbishops, with statesmanlike thoughtfulness, placed themselves with all the weight of their influence at the head of an effort, not to interfere with, but to supplement, what was being done by all the other agencies, to which I have referred, and to fill up as far as they could what was lacking in coping with what was an unprecedented situation. The action, as I have said, was most timely. And not only so, but it has proved very fruitful in permanent results,

The Centenary

In October next, when we celebrate the Centenary of the Church in the Province of Rupert's Land—which began in 1820 with one man and a tent, and now has grown into a huge Ecclesiastical Province with ten Dioceses each with its Bishop— at that anniversary, we hope to welcome in Winnipeg, two representatives of the A.W.C.F. who will present on the alter of God at a great thanksgiving service, an endowment fund to provide for the perpetuation of the work on very wise lines for the future.

PERSONALITY SHOULD BE DYKE FROM EVIL

Rev. J. B. Silcox, D.D., Speaks To the Pacific Coast Theologians

"There is a subtle something called influence goes out from every man, and if you stand in the gap against the forces of evil others will rally to your side," stated Rev. J. B. Silcox, D.D., of Seattle, to the Pacific Coast Theological Conference, at Vancouver, early this week.

The speaker began his address on "The place of Personality in Moral Reform and Social Progress," by saying that it might be called a plea for individualism. "Individual initiatiye has been and must always be the moving factor that marked the progress of all great reforms. The Bible is the great text book teaching individual action. We should labor for all whether black, white, foreign or native born. Every institution that smothered individual effort should be overthrown. Jesus made little of organization and much of individual effort," Dr. Silcox said.

The foundation stones of a happy and prosperous community was the individual and the value of a good man to a nation was above price. Society stagnates and degenerates without the efforts of individuals and as Carlyle had said history was the biography of the men who made it.

Committees were all very well in their way, said the speaker, but it was a significant truth that every good thing comes to us through an individual. In order to get a poem you must first catch a poet." He had never heard of a poem being composed by a committee and if he had ever heard of one he wouldn't listen to it (laughter). How often had wisdom and courage in an individual saved the many, and in times of stress, how often did we long for some of the strong men who had gone before. All the great religious movements had invariably centred around one towering individuality sometimes a man and sometimes a woman, but always an individual. No abuses would ever correct themselves without the inspiration of individuality, it was organized individuality that won the war, led by capable individual leaders.

Kiddie's Clothes
How to Make Them Wear Longer
There is stringent need of it, as every mother can testify, in these days of mounting prices. Well—did it ever occur to you that harsh, common soaps, and the ordinary rub and scrub of the wash board, break down more clothes than are ever actually worn out in use? Its so. We've studied the question. That's why purest and best of soaps, was first evolved, years ago—to wash clothes gently but thoroughly, without rubbing—the special "Sunlight" way. Doubly—trebly useful—now, in war time, when the clothes must last longer.
Sunlight Soap
It's easy to do the washing yourself with Sunlight.

FINED FOR SPLASHING

Courts In Pennsylvania Rule That Driver Must Pay Damage When Pedestrians Receive Mud Shower.

Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—In Pennsylvania to drive an automobile so as to splash mud on a pedestrian's clothes is to be guilty of assault, now.

So the courts of Franklinville ruled in the case of W. W. Waring against Eugene Roberts, whose automobile splashed mud on the new suit of Mr. Waring, an attorney. A warrant was obtained and the driver was fined $5 on a charge of assault, third degree.

CHEAPEST ISN'T BEST

A great sermon could be preached on the subject of the real economy of buying a car for worth rather than price. But, pshaw, who'd listen?

GLARING LIGHTS MENACE SAFETY OF ALL ON ROAD

Motorists Should Comply With Law Without Prosecution Regarding Their Lights

(By J. C. Kerrison).

In spite of the law requiring the use of non-glare lights one encounters many cars on the road with headlights that not only glare, but are decidedly dangerous to approaching drivers and pedestrians.

While this applies to the general run of cars it is more particularly noticeable with the little cars whose headlights are virtually controlled by the speed of the motor, the great majority of which indicate no attempt on the part of their owners to comply with the headlight laws. The faster these cars travel the brighter and more blinding is the light and correspondingly greater is the danger.

To encounter these glaring lights on a rough, dark road is most annoying if nothing more, and the only thing to do to safeguard against accident is to stop your own car and permit the owner with the searchlight, for such they are called, to travel along at his own sweet will.

Other Driver Helpless

The driver of an approaching car is absolutely helpless against such headlights and his efforts to keep on the roads are not always successful.

The law covers the question in a most thorough manner, and prosecutions under the same are most frequent, but they do not attain the desired end, as the convictions only serve to prevent repetitions of the offence on the part of the unfortunate culprit.

The law does not, and properly so, provide for the use of any special lens, but it does determine what constitutes efficient and safe headlights, and the motorists really should feel called upon to respect the same if for nothing more than his own safety. If every motorist would see that his lamps are equipped with light glare lenses he will become a public benefactor.

Light Focus Important

In speaking of headlights and lenses a prominent authority recently said:

"An approved lens alone is not however, a sufficient safeguard They are all right if the lamp is set according to directions which come with the lens. The lamp properly set will throw light to the reflector at such an angle that the rays will be reflected to the lenses in a proper way and there be refracted so that they illumine the roadway properly, but a slight change in the focus of the lamp may throw the light rays upward instead of downward, or throw them in a straight beam of light which would be blinding to any one who came within its range. The purpose of the lens is to bend the rays to the proper direction, but it can only be done when the focus of the lamp is accurate. From this it is apparent that a car might be equipped with a proper lens and yet be dangerous, since the intent is to diffuse light so that, while the roadway is properly illumined, the rays of light do not strike the eyes of a driver approaching, or a pedestrian, and blind them.

Make Adjustments

"Practically all lamp manufactured now have an adjustment for focusing rays so that there is no excuse for any one having glary headlights. The adjustments are more or less accessible; some have a thumb-piece on the side of the lamp by which it can be turned to any desired focus. With others the lens must be removed to make the adjustment. But there are not many drivers who know how to make, or who care enough about it to pay any attention to the adjustments.

"It is possible for any driver to test to see that his lamps are properly focused and comply with the law. Inasmuch as laws differ he should first become familiar with the provisions, then place the car on the level facing a wall or building to determine if the light shines in accordance with the law's requirements, testing at 50 feet and 100 feet, of whatever distance the law mentions. With each lens directions are given how to adjust the lamps. It is not a matter of simply putting the lens in the bezel, but of seeing that the lamp is properly focused if it is to work as the manufacturer intended."

PLUMBER MOTORIZES

Chattanooga Man Always Takes His Complete Plumbing Shop With Him To Job.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 28.—James H. Lipp, an enterprising plumber in Chattanooga, has served notice on the public that the standing joke about plumbers charging $1 and more an hour "to go back after their tools" does not apply to him. He carries a complete plumbing shop to every job on a specially constructed business car.

VULCANIZES BY COLD

Manchester College Men Discover New Process, Important For Tire Industry.

London, Aug. 28.—A recent discovery was made by the Manchester (England) College of Technology of a new vulcanizing process. The importance of the discovery is said to lie in the fact that it makes cold vulcanizing possible and is expected to have far-reaching effects on the rubber tire industry.

Through the uneconomic use of automobile service which causes a waste or needless use of 3,000,000 gallons of gasoline a day, automobile companies in the United States have themselves undertaken to educate the public in this direction.

"THIS CAR DOESN'T SKID."

Any wet day will prove that there are autoists who don't believe chains are necessary. You can see their cars ditched or smashed against curbs. But each succeeding rainy day reduces the number—by increasing the necrology.

What The Experts Say

One part of an automobile tire which comes in for too little attention is the valve. Treated properly this inexpensive but highly important part of a tire's mechanism will function satisfactorily throughout the life of the tire, but when mistreated it often causes annoyance.

When a valve begins to give trouble it may be assumed in nearly every case as a practical certainty that dirt has worked into the valve and is the main cause for improper functioning. This being the case, the principal attention a motorist need give the valve is simply to see that all dust and dirt are excluded from the interior of the valve.

There is a rather common belief that the valve cap is an unessential thing and that it makes little difference whether a cap is used or not. But this idea is entirely erroneous and motorists who do not use the valve cap are in danger of valve trouble. When the cap is not used there is a strong likelihood that dirt will work down into the valve and ultimately produce a valve leak. While a tire remains inflated this dirt in some cases may do no harm, but when a new inflation is made the dirt is forced down and in.

It will sometimes be found that a certain cylinder is missing fire. If the plug has been examined and cleaned, and seems to spark well when the car is running on the level or down hill, but refuses to do duty when a hill is reached, it is an almost certain sign that the plug in that particular cylinder is short-circuiting, either from dirt or oil on the inside, or perhaps because it is cracked. The remedy is to change the plug for a new one.

A mighty useful device for the man who washes his own car may be made by sawing a keg or barrel in half and clamping to the edge an ordinary clothes wringer. The half barrel is filled with water and the chamois cloths used for cleaning the car are soaked therein and afterwards passed through the wringer so that a dry surface may be assured in the final operations of cleaning the body.

This is the time of the year when owners of new cars need to be reminded that more harm may result to the vehicle in the first 500 miles of running than all the rest of its life. After the car has been run a couple of hundred miles the driver should go over it and take up slack in bolts and bearings. Pistons should have excessive lubrication during the early wearing period. The universal joints must be kept fully lubricated during the early running of the car. A stitch at this time saves not nine but nineteen.

OVER-HEATED MOTOR IS MOST COMMON SUMMER COMPLAINT

Overheating is a rather common complaint in Summer, and sometimes, while no serious results occur, the motorist is delayed on the road and often required to spend no little time endeavoring to determine the exact cause. Because there are numerous causes, every owner should be familiar with the most common ones.

All makes of cars but two are water-cooled, hence we shall deal with water-cooled engines only. Naturally, in such engines partial depletion of the water system means an overheated engine. This is more particularly the case with thermo-syphon cooled engines, which require a complete circuit of water. It is therefore a good plan for the owner of a car to see that the radiator is always full. In a pump-cooled engine there is more force back of the water and a lower level may be carried without the danger of overheating.

Leaks in the water system naturally bring about reduction of water supply and consequently excessive heating of what water remains.

Keeps Water Too Hot.

Anything tending to interfere with the free circulation of the water through the radiator or the water-jacket keeps the jacket water in contact with the hot cylinders too long, resulting in boiling of the water. Obstructions may be in the form of dirt or sediment in the radiator, disintegrated hose connections, which partially clog the passageways; an obstruction of dirt or lumps of rusty material in the water-jacket.

Running for too long a period in low gear, or even second, may cause overheating. This overworks the engines. Running on retarded spark, especially for any distance under load, as up a grade, will cause overheating. Instead of running with a retarded spark on high, run with advanced spark in second slowly.

Slipping Fan Belt the Cause.

One of the commonest causes of overheating is due to a slipping fan belt. It is absolutely necessary for the fan to cause sufficient air draught to cool the water as it flows through the radiator. A slipping belt reduces the fan speed and thus cuts down the draft. The belt should be taut but not too tight. Tight belts usually wear fast and break, and they also wear the pulley bearings.

A bad mixture, usually a rich one, brings about overheating. Carbon in the cylinders will also bring the engine to heat rapidly, but at the same time the engine will lack power, knock, and generally perform poorly.

Any drag on the engine, causing it to overwork, is likely to cause overheating. When the clutch slips the engine has to do more work to accomplish a given set of results; also when the brakes drag.

Stop Overheated Engine.

If the engine should overheat, the sooner it is stopped the better. After stopping the engine allow it to cool for about ten or fifteen minutes; it depends on how hot it is. Then add cold water slowly until the system is full. Then start the radiator filler if there is circulation. You might open the radiator drain, when the engine is stopped, to see if there is free flow through that unit. Poke a wire through the drain to make sure the drain itself is free. You then can go over the car to see that the spark advances with lever movement, that the mixture is not too rich, as indicated by pungent exhaust, and by noting if the fan belt slips.

"SPIKE" GREEK SPEEDERS

Traffic Police In Greece Throw Studded Plank To Puncture Tires.

Athens, Aug. 28.—Motor speeding in Greece is stopped by the ingenious method of traffic police throwing a plank studded with spikes in front of the fast approaching car.

A rust-proofing process recently imported from England, where it was successfully used during the war by European Governments in munitions, makes it a possibility that the motor car of the future will be rust-proof.

The old side-walk knife-and-scissors grinder in Philadelphia has been replaced by a motor truck service with a complete sharpening outfit, operated by a connection to the engine.

The City Council of Toledo, O., has asked for an appropriation of $2,000,000 to establish a municipal bus line in that city.

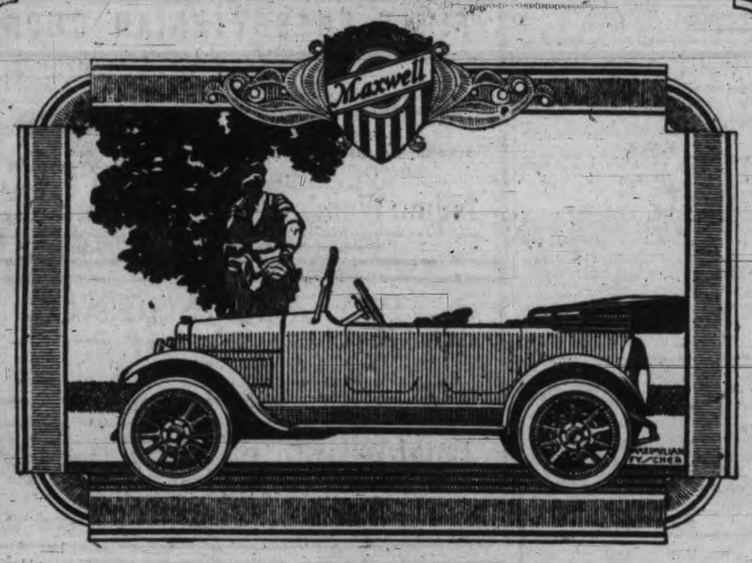
BIG CANAL SHIPMENT

One Hundred Motor Car Bodies Sent Through In One Load.

New York, Aug. 28.—A shipment of 100 automobile bodies, valued at $250,000, was recently sent through New York's barge canal, which was probably the most valuable shipment ever dispatched through any canal.

An elevated automobile highway project has been worked out by an engineering corporation in Detroit, Mich. The elevated roadway would be similar to the elevated railway systems and would be wide enough to permit automobiles to run in opposite directions and have additional space for turning. The structure would be supported by steel standards. Engineering experts who have studied the plan pronounce it practical.

One gallon of gasoline contains enough power to move 15 tons of freight one mile.



The Simplicity of a

MAXWELL

is Due to Special Steels

A Maxwell is a simple car. Its engine, axles, clutch, transmission and gears are the utmost in simplicity, which is the goal of scientific engineering.

Special steels have made this possible. They are steels made to Maxwell's own formulae, the result of thousands of tests and years of analysis.

These steels give a Maxwell the remarkable combination of extra strength and lightness in weight.

In this way complicated construction has been avoided. Simple design has naturally followed and to this simplicity rare strength has been added by the use of these special steels.

Strains, twists, thrusts, shocks and blows are protected against in many other cars by reinforcements, extra weight in metals used, and a design that obviously is anything but simple.

In a Maxwell this simplicity has made the car easier to build, and it therefore is better built, easier to drive, and easier to care for.

That this should win friends for Maxwell is almost too obvious to call attention to.

Nearly 400,000 persons now drive a Maxwell, which is a very definite endorsement.

SALMON CANNERS AROUSED OVER PLANNED STRICTURE

Hint Department Was to Prohibit Seines and Drag Nets; Sent Delegation

At a conference yesterday in Vancouver between the Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and the B. C. salmon canners headed by W. H. Barker and H. O. Bell-Irving, the delegation from the fishing interests made a plea for better co-operation between the fishery department and the men who do the fishing on this coast.

The conference resulted from rumors that had been given publicity to the effect that the Department was going to prohibit the use of drag nets and traps. The Hon. C. C. Ballantyne assured the assembled canners that while the department had just that question under consideration, nevertheless no action would be taken without consulting the fishing interests themselves.

W. H. Barker, representing the canners of British Columbia, presented the views of his colleague in an address to the Minister in which he said in part:

"What is needed," said Mr. Barker, "is a better understanding between the Department and persons connected with the fishing industry on the coast. Stringent regulations have been made while those engaged in the industry were not consulted. These regulations in many cases have meant a loss of thousands of dollars to the industry as supplies are purchased a year ahead and in many cases the regulations make certain supplies useless.

"For instance, nets and seines have been purchased for the coming year, and if regulations prohibiting their use are brought into force we will be left with them on our hands. The Columbia River," Mr. Barker proceeded, "has been fished for the past 100 years and still it keeps up its pack in spite of the traps used there. Traps and gill nets must be used if we are to practice economy in securing the catch. We have millions of dollars invested in plant equipment and are in the business for all time, and must consider the future of the industry. In fairness to us and to the country we should be consulted before regulations are made by the Department."

LARGE HALIBUT CATCH.

Representing the work of seven schooners plying in the fishing trade, 109,000 pounds of halibut were landed at Seattle yesterday from the schooners La Paloma, Arcade, Herbert, Nomad, Restitution, Roosevelt and Helena. The catch sold for 14½ cents a pound for first class fish, and six cents a pound for second class. The La Paloma starred with 35,000 pounds for the best individual catch.

WINDJAMMER CIRCLES GLOBE.

After eighteen months at sea, the barquentine Annie M. Rolph completed her maiden voyage by a trip around the globe, arriving at Port Townsend yesterday. The Annie M. Rolph made the last leg of her journey, from England, in 104 days. Captain A. Olsen had nothing eventful to report from his long voyage, except that the craft lost her anchor and forty-five feet of anchor chain as she dropped anchor at Port Townsend yesterday.

MINISTER SEES TRADE EXPANSION

Hon. C. Ballantyne Addresses Vancouver Audience on Trade Possibilities

In addressing a joint luncheon of the Vancouver Canadian Club and Board of Trade yesterday at that city, the Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, delivered a glowing address on the future of the anadian merchant marine, and the prosperity which the Government fleet would bring to Canada. Trade routes with India, Japan and the West Indies were under consideration, he added, in addition to the Australian service now in vogue. Passenger ships, to add to the Government freight routes, were an expense that the Canadian Government could not afford, but these passenger vessels were being built and would be operated by a prominent shipping firm in the Old Country that was now getting ready for the service, he stated, concluding his address with the promise that sixteen of the Canadian merchant marine vessels would be placed in service plying with freight from this coast.

MARINE NOTES.

Captain J. W. Troup, Manager of the B. C. Coast Service, returned yesterday from the Old Country, via New York and Chicago. Occupied in a rush of business awaiting his return, Captain Troup withheld any comment he might have to make on the new vessel that is to be added to the C. P. R. fleet.

The steel barquentine Alta, which is unloading at the Outer Wharf prior to removal to Yarrows' Esquimalt, for repairs to the leak sustained recently, is still in the process of being lightened. Gangs have been working on the cargo of timber that was carried in the hold, and the vessel now stands some four feet out of the water over her original draft when fully loaded.

The Arizona Maru is due out Monday with a cargo of general freight for the Orient, while William Allen, of R. P. Rithet & Company, have also received word that the Crown of Galicia is due here late Monday night with some 300 tons of general cargo for this port. The shipment includes some whisky from the Old Country. The Crown of Galicia will sail afterwards for Vancouver and Sound ports.

The S. S. President will sail tonight for the South, with cabins full, every available passenger space being booked up some time in advance.

The Government service vessel Leebro is expected to get away shortly to replace the Gossip Reef Buoy, that had become displaced.

The new sticks are being hoisted into place on the barquentine Puako, and the work of rigging the spars is under way now at Messrs. Yarrow's plant at Esquimalt. The Puako will put to sea again on Tuesday, when she will pick up a cargo and resume her service in the lumber trade to South Africa.

The work on the motorship Pacific is proceeding much as predicted by the preliminary survey, and the repair job is expected to be completed by the end of next week.

Men, Men!
Try It To-night—
Feel Fine To-morrow

Simple Way to Get "Pep," To Be Put Right On Your Feet

When a man has lost ambition to "dig in" and stay at things—when he complains of headache, fullness in the right side, pains in the shoulder blade—it's purely a case of "Liver."

These symptoms invariably indicate a clogged, inactive liver. The body can't get rid of its wastes, and the whole system is half paralyzed.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills stimulate the liver into activity in one night. Being a mild, vegetable laxative they produce results in a few hours. The bilious headache and constipation are cured, spirits rise, complexion clears, animation returns. Nothing in the calendar so efficient for that tired, lazy feeling as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Very mild, don't interfere with work, invariably do lots of good. Try a 25c box, all dealers.

Prince John's New Schedule; Albert on Weekly Run For Present

Some changes in the G. T. P. service to Prince Rupert were announced to-day. The Prince John which formerly sailed out of Prince Rupert every Sunday night for the Queen Charlotte Islands, will now sail every other Friday from Vancouver, commencing September 10, and proceed to the Queen Charlotte Islands as before. On September 15 the Prince John will sail from Prince Rupert for Masset, Buckley Bay, and Port Clements, and will return south via Prince Rupert, the Queen Charlotte Islands, to Vancouver.

Commencing September 22 the Prince Albert will run a weekly service to Masset and other points, leaving from Prince Rupert.

KEEP CHILDREN WELL DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the hot Summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dystentry, colic and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours' illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevents stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ENGLISH LABOR LEADERS TO SPEAK

Will Address Local Labor Organizations At Meeting To-Night

T. E. Naylor, general secretary of the London Society of Compositors, and Chairman of the London Labor party, and George A. Isaacs, Mayor of Southwark, and general secretary of the National Society of Operative Printers and Assistants, Great Britain, will speak to-night at the Labor Hall, North Park Street, on labor conditions in Great Britain.

T. E. NAYLOR.

Mr. Naylor is a strong advocate of the constitutional progress in the labor movement. He arrived yesterday with the Imperial Press party, to which he is a delegate.

Mr. Isaacs has taken a prominent part in the movement for social reform in the large London borough of which he is now the head, with the population of some 300,000. Mr. Isaacs is accompanied on tour by Mrs. Isaacs and a small child.

GEO. A. ISAACS.

Mr. Naylor has been editor of the Typographical Journal since 1906, and exercises a wide influence in the affairs of the country.

The visitors will be welcomed by members of the Allied Printing Trades Council, the Typographical Union, and the Trades and Labor Council.

E. S. Woodward, Secretary of the Trades Council, will occupy the chair this evening.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of lower low water.

Esquimalt.—To find the depth of water on the sill of the dry dock at any tide, add 19.0 feet to the height of high water as above given.

If Russia really has no leisure class it must be in terrible straits for office boys.

How to Lose Your Tan, Freckles or Wrinkles

A day's motoring, an afternoon on the tennis court or golf links, a sunbath on the beach or exposure on a water trip, often brings on a deep tan or vivid crimson, or, more perplexing still, a vigorous crop of freckles. A very necessary thing then is mercolized wax, which removes tan, redness or freckles quite easily. It literally peels off the affected skin—just a little at a time, so there's no hurt or inconvenience. As the skin comes off in almost invisible flaky particles, no trace of the treatment is shown. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist's and use this nightly as you would cold cream, washing it off mornings. In a week or so you will have an entirely new skin, beautifully clear, transparent and of a most delicate whiteness.

Wrinkles, so apt to form at this season, may be easily and quickly removed by bathing the face in a solution of powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, one-half pint. This is not only a valuable astringent, but has a beneficial tonic effect also.

HALF LONGSHOREMEN GO BACK TO WORK

Some of Those Who Quit At New York in Sympathy Are Still Idle

New York, Aug. 28.—About half the longshoremen here who walked out yesterday in the hope of forcing Great Britain to release from jail Terence MacSweeney, Lord Mayor of Cork, and permit Archbishop Mannix to land on Irish soil, returned to work this morning, it was announced at the offices of the International Longshoremen's Association.

Officers of the Cunard Line and the International Mercantile Marine said the walkout had not included any members of the crews, and that if necessary the ships would clear with incomplete cargoes.

Women Busy.

New York, Aug. 28.—Hostilities were resumed to-day by the five Sinn Fein women pickets who yesterday started a demonstration that resulted in a walkout of more than 2,000 longshoremen employed on British ocean liners as a protest against Great Britain's Irish policy. The women returned to the piers with a large cohort of longshoremen supporters, intent on crippling all British ships arriving in port. Plans also were said to be on foot to spread the protest strike to other Atlantic ports, and to extend it if possible to ship crews as well as longshoremen.

Although the longshoremen out declared they would not return to work until Archbishop Mannix, Australian prelate, had been permitted to enter Ireland and Lord Mayor MacSweeney of Cork released from Brixton prison, London, their stand was not expected to prevent the sailing to-day of a number of ships due to clear port during the day.

Mauretania.

At the Cunard Line offices it was announced that the Mauretania, which arrived at quarantine from Southampton this morning, will not be docked until 5 o'clock this afternoon, seven hours late, because her berth is occupied by the Aquitania, scheduled to depart at noon.

BARRISTER OF WINNIPEG DROWNED

Winnipeg, Aug. 28. — Henry F. Tench, a prominent Winnipeg barrister, was drowned yesterday at Minaki, on the Winnipeg River, Lake of the Woods, his family and he having left the city on Thursday.

Mr. Tench was getting out of a rowboat when he stepped out into four feet of water and collapsed.

FIVE C's BATTING WELL THIS MORNING

Five C's were having a fairly lively time with the Incogs' bowlers at the University grounds to-day. At the luncheon hour they had run up 16 runs for the loss of four wickets. Wilkinson was top man with 35 Quainton added 22.

The play-off for the cricket championship commenced this morning with Five C's playing against Incogs and Victoria battling with the Olbs at the Jubilee Hospital grounds. The finals in the tournament will be played on Monday.

HIGH LIVING COST HAS NOT YET FOUND ISLANDS OF MALTA

Even Cigarette Prices Have Not Been Boosted Says Editor

MALTESE WOULD LIKE TO COME TO CANADA

News of there being one place still left in the world where the average man can keep ahead of the cost of living came to Victoria yesterday when Augusto Bartolo, L.L.D., B.Lit., of The Daily Malta Chronicle, arrived here with the Imperial Press party.

"The cost of living has gone up less in Malta than any place in Europe," Dr. Bartolo said to The Times. "The cost of staying there for a holiday is lower than anywhere else in the world."

High grade cigarettes are still two shillings and sixpence a hundred, or about 60 cents, in Malta, Dr. Bartolo explains.

"And that is for a grade equal to that for which you pay $2.50 a hundred here," he added.

Wages Still Low.

Clothing is comparatively almost as cheap, although compared with pre-war days it is high. Bread is about what it is in this country, but that is accounted for by the fact that Malta does not grow enough wheat for its own use and has to pay the high prices outside countries demand. Fruits and figs, which it does produce, are very cheap.

Malta has been hard hit by the war, Dr. Bartolo says. Wages generally have not gone up in proportion to the increased cost of living and commodities. New sources of employment that were opened up in Malta during the war have now been ended. Such conditions all make for low wages and economic conditions that are not as good as the Maltese hope for.

Great Place For Holiday.

"Malta is not a place for people to come to for work, but it is a place for a holiday," Dr. Bartolo goes on. "Disraeli called its capital 'A city of palaces, which equals in its noble architecture if it does not excel any capital in Europe.'"

Malto is becoming a great tourist centre for these reasons, according to Dr. Bartolo:

1. Its wonderful history.
2. Its ideal climate.
3. Its splendid health conditions.
4. The fact that it is one of the largest of naval and military towns which attracts the families and friends of officers.

Population Industrious.

These islands of Malta, in the middle of the Mediterranean, still isolated from the high cost of living agencies, are only about 100 square miles. Yet the islands have packed in these 100 square miles about the same population there is in the whole of Newfoundland with its 42,000 square miles.

"Such a comparison shows the industry of the people of the place who are able to support themselves on this small area of land," Dr. Bartolo goes on.

Would Send Maltese Here.

"Because of this crowded state of affairs there is now a movement on to start immigration from Malta. The Maltese are just the kind of people you would like in Canada. They are not a tropical people but well adaptable to the climate and conditions of this country."

Mayor Gray, of Winnipeg, is of Maltese blood and besides the Mayor himself there is a small Maltese colony already established there. Last year they got together and presented the Mayor with some of that world-famous Maltese lace. When Dr. Bartolo passed through Winnipeg a couple of weeks ago the Maltese colony turned out to make him feel at home, although he was on the other side of the world from his own town.

Never Bolsheviks.

Maltese when they leave their homes and go to other parts of the world do not become Bolsheviks and "reds," but take pride in making themselves good citizens, according to Dr. Bartolo.

"Maltese settlers are not only very staunch in their loyalty, but they make excellent citizens wherever they go," Dr. Bartolo goes on. "There are thousands of Maltese in Algeria. They have never changed their citizenship and call themselves Anglo-Maltese."

Malta is now to have self-government, Dr. Bartolo explains. On June 4 letters patent were issued granting selfgovernment to the island. Discussion is now being carried on as to the form which this self-government is to take. The form of government will give Malta practically the same status as Canada, with a Governor who is also commander of the forces, and a National Assembly.

When he was passing through London a few weeks ago, Dr. Bartolo met the Colonial Secretary, who informed him that the British Government hoped to have the new Maltese government going by the beginning of next year.

TORONTO DIVER FAILS TO QUALIFY AT ANTWERP

Antwerp, Aug. 28.—Richard Flint, of Toronto, failed to qualify in the finals of the high diving competition. He was sixth in his heat with 28 points. Flint dived splendidly from the highest platform, doing cleverly the forward double somersault, the backward double somersault, but was unfortunate in losing points at the lower platform.

EDGAR AGAIN WINS CANADIAN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—(Canadian Press)—Douglas Edgar of Atlanta, Ga., last year's Canadian open golf champion again captured that title at the Rivermead Golf Club course this afternoon, defeating G. Armour of Edinburgh, Scotland, and Charles Murray, of Royal, Montreal. Edgar's score was 73, Murray's 74, and Armour's 75.

NEW YORK STOCKS SHOW LITTLE CHANGE

(By Burdick Brothers, Ltd.)

New York, Aug. 28.—Nothing of special interest transpired to-day and the dealings were extremely small and fluctuations were meaningless.

A good inquiry was observable in the railroad department of the list and the market generally presented a very firm tone. It is expected that money rates may average higher during the course of the next week or so, owing to preparations for September 1st dividend disbursement and by corporations and individuals for Federal tax payments.

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS

Winnipeg, Aug. 28.—Trading for future deliveries on the Winnipeg grain exchange to-day was only of fair size, the short week-end session reflecting an almost holiday situation. The markets were firm, but showed little change from Friday. There was a keen demand for cash wheat, millers and exporters being the buyers. There were 158 cars of new wheat received to-day, being the heaviest so far this season. The weather throughout the West continues favorable for harvesting and threshing. Coarse grains showed a little strength, but volume of trade was light. Flax was weaker.

October wheat closed ⅜ lower; oats ¼ higher for October and ⅛ higher for December and May; barley ½ higher for October and ¼ lower for December; flax ½ lower for October and 3 lower for November; and October rye ⅜ higher.

CHICAGO GRAINS CLOSE STEADY

(By Burdick Brothers, Ltd.)

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Wheat—Lack of pressure made a higher range for futures, but the cash market was heavy with premiums on Spring wheat here off 3 to 5 cents, while Winter wheat was ½ to 2 cents lower. No. 1 grade sold from 20 to 23 cents over December. Export demand was not very keen, but the tendency to hold for higher prices on the part of the country and lack of a heavy movement at the present time caused sentiment to be decidedly mixed. Reported that one hundred thousand bushels wheat taken for export to-day.

Corn.—While strength in wheat had some effect on the market, there was little in the situation that was construed as bullish. Country offerings increased materially in some sections and fair quantities were booked to arrive. Cash prices were generally one cent lower on old billing with new at a discount. Reports of corn being down in parts of Iowa and Nebraska as the result of recent storms, caused a minor upturn at one time, but these reports have been here for nearly a week. Forecast was for showers.

Oats showed a firm undertone throughout the day, but held within very narrow price limits. New billing new white oats are selling at September price to one cent over and it would not be surprising if elevator interests bought some grain to send to store. The loss of the oats premiums takes away some of the bullish ammunition.

NEIGHBORLINESS AS WORLD NEED

Racial Co-operation Discussed In Reviews By Edna Marwick

"Unity of Western Civilization," edited by F. S. Marvin.
"Progress and History," edited by F. S. Marvin.
"Century of Hope," F. S. Marvin.
"Democratic Ideals and Reality," H. J. Mackinder.
"Power and Aims of Western Democracy," W. M. Sloane.
"Rising Tide of Color," Lelthrop Stoddard.

"It has been said with truth that it is easier to trace the growth of science as a joint product of co-operating minds, than to find a growth of common sentiments among the men and the nations who have created it." In "The Unity of Western Civilization," a collection of essays arranged and edited by F. S. Marvin, the aim is to show the growth of unity down through history, and to point out the forces which make for greater solidarity in our modern world. Some of the topics discussed are: Science and Philosophy as unifying forces, unity of Western education, common ideals of social reform, and religion as a unifying influence. How far and in what form the unity of mankind will emerge from the trial of the war is another question discussed.

Progress of History

Another series of essays, edited also by F. S. Marvin, and forming a sequel to the preceding book, is entitled "Progress and History." The former book describes some permanent unifying factors, this volume shows these forces in growth. The same problem is viewed statically in the first collection and dynamically in the second. Both are historical in spirit. In his introductory chapter, F. S. Marvin states that the idea of progress covers the conception of the increase of knowledge, the increase of power, and the increase in our appreciation of the humanity of others. "The first two thoughts, harmonized and directed by the third, may be taken to cover the whole field, and this volume to be merely a commentary upon them." The following criticism is from the London Times: "Throughout the book there is a kindred aim, with excusable differences as to detail in certain problems. And this aim is idealistic, spiritual, with all possible stress laid upon the factor of betterment."

Another discussion on the subject of progress, by the same writer, is entitled "A Century of Hope," a sketch of Western progress from 1815 to the Great War. It is the history o the century after Waterloo in all its phrases. Some of the topics are: the political revival, the new spirit in literature, the birth of Socialism, biology and evolution, nationality and imperialism, and social and international progress. Mr. Marvin as one critic says, has "the gift of summarizing large topics clearly," a fact which makes his work of value to the general reader.

The Value of Idealists

"Idealists are the salt of the earth; without them to move us, society would soon stagnate and civilization fade." H. J. Mackinder, in "Democratic Ideals and Reality," points out what ideals must be aimed at while we are face to face with the realities of the new world the war has left us. The writer has a vivid realization of geographical conditions. He comes to the conclusion that "the grouping of lands and seas, and of fertility and of natural pathways, is such as to lend itself to the growth of empires, and in the end of a single world empire." This is the reality, says the writer, and the greatest ideal, in consequence, is that of Neighborliness. Neighborliness, or fraternal duty to those who are our fellow dwellers, is the only sure foundation of a happy citizenship. Its consequences extend upward through the province to the nations, and to the world league of nations." The book is written in a novel and arresting style.

Problems of Peace.

"That democracy is in its essence conservative, that the drift toward Socialism is an attack on its very life, that the democratic nation is the best form of human association so far devised, and that neither democracy not nationality insures enduring peace," are some of the conclusions of W. M. Sloane, in his book "Powers and Aims of Western Democracy." Three most timely questions are discussed: What is a nation? What is democracy? What are the chances for enduring peace under the democratic system? The writer makes a scholarly survey of democracy from the earliest times, discusses present day questions frankly and intelligently, and makes a vigorous attack on Socialism.

The world-wide supremacy of the white races, apparently so unshakable, is in reality threatened by the colored races, is the thesis of Lothrop Stoddard, the author of "The Rising Tide of Color." He analyses the relations between the whites and other races, numerically, geographically, and politically. He examines the character of each of the colored races, giving evidence of aggressive awakening among the most advanced. He appeals to the white races for a greater solidarity.

DAVID DAVIES TO SPEAK TO-NIGHT

Impressions On Precarious Position of British Prime Minister

David Davies, editor and owner of The South Wales Daily Post, Swansea, Wales, and the Conservative candidate who opposed the election of Sir Alfred Mond, Unionist, and lost out by only 1,200 votes in a constituence of 34,000 voters, has come to the conclusion that around Victoria is the most beautiful part of Canada he has seen. He will be the speaker at the Canadian Club dinner at the Empress Hotel to-night to the Imperial Press delegates.

Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Davies declares, is like a circus rider astride two horses, each with an inclination to diverge outwards, so that he at any moment may fall between.

"The existence of the Coalition is precarious," said Mr. Davies. He believes that British labor leaders do not really want to win the next election and gain power, as they realize they are not ready for it. He says that labor will be a powerful opposition to any Government, however.

Sick of Irish Trouble.

"British people are sick of the Irish question," Mr. Davies said. "We missed a great opportunity in 1916, when John Redmond made his great effort in Parliament, and Willie Redmond made the most appealing speech ever heard in the House of Commons, before he went to his patriot's death in France, that was the day of our lost opportunity to deal wisely and permanently with the Irish question. The movement was wrecked by a few reactionaries on both sides. Now it seems that the Irish problem is to revert to its old historic and hopeless status of 'everlastingly to be given up.'"

"The difficulty is not in England but in Ireland itself; and in the main is of a religious character. The Irish have been told that, short of independence, they can have any Government they desire, if they will only agree among themselves as to what form it should take. So far it has been impossible to get the North and the Sopth to agree. Only English troops stand between the antagonists of Ireland to prevent a civil war. It is only just that the world should recognize that the British people are ready to grant the Irish self determination in any form, so long as the Protestants are safeguarded against oppression in Ireland, and the country is not made a possible jumping-off ground for the enemies of the Empire."

Members of the Women's Canadian Club will be admitted to hear Mr. Davies speak to-night.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

A cynic says if buses are introduced in Toronto streets they will help solve the transportation problem by killing a proportion of the traffic, thus reducing the pressure.

PROTECTING CAUSE OF FOURTH ESTATE

Major John Mitchell, Past President of Institute of Journalists, Here.

A member of the British Institute of Journalists from the early days, and a recent president of that influential body, Major John Mitchell, of Dundee, was able to tell The Times representative last evening of the steady improvement made by that influential organization on the conditions of press work in the Old Country during the thirty years.

Like Lord Burnham, President of the Imperial Press Conference, who was president of the Institute in 1910, as well as several past and present officers with the party now here, Major Mitchell is a firm believer in what has been done for the profession in standardizing salaries, aiding in legal controversies, and similar aims during the life of that body which includes both proprietors and working journalists of all ranks throughout the United Kingdom, with overseas connections now in many parts of the Empire.

Major Mitchell states that the effect of organization has done a great deal to improve the status of the profession in the Old Country, and while of late membership has been affected by the National Union organization, which does not recognize the proprietorial interest, in the long years of his association with the Institute he declares that no case has yet arisen where the Institute preferred the proprietorial policy to that of the working newspaper man.

Major Mitchell is greatly impressed with the influence of his fellow countrymen on the affairs of this country, and says the Scotsman in Canada is certainly taking his place in building up the Empire overseas.

PREJUDICED.

By and by when small Edgar had finished sobbing, he said, "Mamma, you told a story."

"Why, Edgar, what do you mean?" asked his mother.

"You said you was going to give me a good whipping," explained Edgar, "but I didn't see any good about it."

GOING BACK

Senator Harding is about to initiate a campaign for a return of the people to old standards of life and principle. Cynics wonder just where this will land the pilgrims.
